

MASON FOR FREE CUBA.

The Illinois Senator Made a Strong Speech.

FAVORS MORGAN'S RESOLUTION.

He Says the Republican Party Stands Pledged to Do Something For the Struggling Patriots—Hoar Speaks Against Granting Belligerent Rights.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Cuba has again occupied the foreground in the senate. It drew large crowds to the galleries and brought two notable speeches, the one by Mr. Mason (Ill.) in favor of the Morgan resolution, and the other by Mr. Hoar (Mass.) in opposition to it.

The Illinois senator pictured in fervid terms the distress in Cuba, dwelling particularly upon the starving condition of 800 United States citizens, as reported by the president, and called upon the senate to throw off its lethargy and pass the Morgan resolution.

Mr. Mason had several sharp tilts with Mr. Wellington (Md.), the latter protesting that he was being misrepresented. It led to considerable commotion in the galleries, during which Mr. Wellington declared that he could not be choked off by the rudeness of the galleries.

Mr. Hoar spoke in his usual calm and dignified style and took occasion to deride buncombe appeals to constituents and bragadoceos as to our national strength. Mr. Hoar's criticisms, although impersonal, were clearly aimed at Mr. Mason. Senators Gallinger (N. H.) and Hawley (Conn.) also spoke, the former for the resolution and the latter urging that the United States should not rush into war while our coast defenses are manifestly inadequate.

Senator Mason began with sarcastic reference to the "polite delays" of the senate, which had taken the place of the "old game of filibuster." On one pretense or another, he said, the opposition to this resolution had succeeded in delaying action day after day. Day after day the American people had awaited that action, had expected that at least the barbarities of the Spaniard would be checked, until at last it seemed as though the voice of the American people was to remain silent while the "sale of girls, the murder of children and the barbarities which the Spaniard calls war" proceeds in Cuba.

The senator declared it was time to act, to carry out the platform of the Republican party, and to speak here and now in behalf of Cuba. Mr. Mason referred to "that splendid gentleman" in the presidential chair and to the president's Cuba message in proof of the serious condition prevailing in Cuba.

"Here is the proof," exclaimed the senator.

"In the communication of the president stating that 800 citizens of the United States have been forced into towns are destitute. Who forced them there? Was it the insurgents? Then there is war in Cuba. Was it the Spaniards? Then if there is not war there ought to be, and with us. Eight hundred Americans driven from home starving, and still some senators say it is not much of a war."

The senator said that with this statement that 800 Americans were suffering we passed a resolution in substance saying: "Please, kind Mr. Spaniard, let us bring home our Americans and protect them under our flag." And yet there is no war in Cuba.

"If 800 American citizens are being driven like swine," exclaimed Mr. Mason, "compelling us to send from our shore to protect them, if it is not war, what is it?"

Mr. Mason turned his attention to the remarks favorable to England made by Mr. Wellington (Md.) the day before. "Yes, we owe her (England) a good deal," declared Mr. Mason, "but we settled a good part of it at Bunker Hill."

The senator read newspaper extracts showing the condition of affairs in Cuba.

"Is that the kind of information," interjected Mr. Wellington, "that the senate of the United States is to have as a basis for a resolution of belligerency?"

Mr. Mason replied that the senate must act on its best information, and when the Spaniard sells his daughter, murders his boy and conceals the facts the people must rely on the American correspondent to get at the facts. The senator paid a glowing tribute to those correspondents, some of whom had risked and given up their lives to present the facts to the American people. He referred to the death of Correspondent Crosby, who fell on the field during an engagement.

"And yet," suggested Mr. Gallinger, ironically, "there is no war in Cuba."

Referring to the Cuban plank in the St. Louis platform, he said:

"You remember how the great hall rang. The great, struggling, liberty-loving people of the world said at last the Republican party is on the high road to success. McKinley sure. Liberty for Cuba. The Republican party spoke, and from the days of Lincoln to the days of McKinley they have never stepped backwards from one plank of their platform, and they shall not do it now."

Mr. Mason closed as follows:

"Mr. President, no one fears war, but if to keep our promises with Cuba and protect her means war, let it come. If to protest against the butchery of women and children means war, let it come. If to defend the honest daughters of brave patriots means an insult to Spain and war, let it come and come quickly, for I tell you whether we speak or not the civilization of the Nazarene is upon us whether you sleep bound hand and foot by the rules of order, or whether you shall speak like American brave men, the march of the Nazarene is upon us, liberty shall prevail and the island of Cuba under the providence of God shall be free."

WOMEN AGAIN ARRESTED.

Mesdames Smith and Leusler Sleep Behind the Bars at Sandusky.

SANDUSKY, May 19.—Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Leusler, who were released from the police station on bail furnished by their husbands, were rearrested on another charge preferred against them by merchants of grand larceny and secreted stolen goods, and placed in the police station, where they were compelled to spend the night, as no one at the station at that hour was authorized to receive bail in such cases.

The merchants who were victimized by the women decided at a conference to prosecute them to the full extent of the law.

These women, wives of two of the wealthiest and best-known stockraisers in this section of the country, were arrested for shoplifting. The women were caught in the act, and several hundred dollars worth of silks, laces, etc., which they had stolen, were found on their persons and in the carriage in which they had come to this city from their country place at Castalia, six miles east of here.

The women are Mrs. Jay Smith and Mrs. Charles Leusler, both of them socially prominent and members of two of the oldest families in the country. Their detection, arrest, confessions and subsequent developments clears up a mystery as to where thousands of dollars worth of goods that mysteriously disappeared from stores have gone to and who took them.

The women went into Giedeman & Homegardner's shoe store to make some purchases. After they had gone the clerk who had waited upon them discovered that not only the pair of shoes sold was gone, but two other pair as well. He informed the proprietors of the fact, and Mr. Giedeman at once went to look for the women. He found them upon the street, and requested that they return with him to the store, which they did. Their confessions followed.

They cried and sobbed and upon their knees begged for mercy, saying that this was their first offense, which statement, according to subsequent developments, seemed to be anything but the truth. Their persons were searched and various articles of value stolen from stores here were found upon them.

HAVANA, May 19.—W. J. Calhoun, the special commissioner of the United States, who is investigating the death of Dr. Ricardo Ruiz, a naturalized American citizen, has visited the Spanish Casino, which was decorated and illuminated in honor of the eleventh birthday of King Alphonso. Mr. Calhoun was accompanied by the Spanish consul at Philadelphia, Dr. Jose Congosto, the mayor of Havana, Senor Michael Diaz, and Dr. Jover, who acted as interpreter.

Mr. Calhoun admired the building and expressed appreciation of the courtesy with which he was received. After the guests and their hosts had partaken of refreshments, the secretary of the Casino toasted "peace for Cuba and sincere and unalterable friendship between the United States and Spain."

Dr. Jover then toasted "President McKinley" in English, which was responded to by Mr. Calhoun. The first words which the latter uttered on gaining his feet showed him to be an accomplished orator, as well as a discreet diplomat.

After some preliminary remarks of a complimentary nature Mr. Calhoun said that when he received his appointment to come to Cuba he formed the idea that he was going to a foreign country, but the hospitality he had met with in Spanish territory had made his residence here so pleasant that he began to believe himself among his own people, and yet was almost forgetting his own country while longing for the approach of peace and progress for Cuba.

TURKEY WILL YIELD.

The Pressure of All Europe on the Porte.

STOPPING OF FIGHTING SHOWS IT.

The Sultan Now Said to Be Ready to Modify His Recent Exacting Terms. Russia to Come to the Rescue of the Little Nation.

LONDON, May 19.—The harmony of the European press on the subject of the conditions of peace is remarkable. The semi-official papers, The Times, The Novoe Vremya, The Temps, The North German Gazette and The Fremdenblatt, are as one in the vigorous terms in which they denounce Turkey's pretensions. Now that the last obstacle to a speedy armistice is removed by Germany, which temporarily blocked the negotiations, having instructed her ambassador at Constantinople, Baron Von Sauerma-Jeltsch, to join the other ambassadors in pressing upon the porte the necessity of agreeing upon an armistice, it can be taken for granted that with the innumerable forms of coercion ready to the hands of the powers, the sultan will yield to the inevitable within a day or two, especially as the capture of the Greek positions at Domokos will go far to satisfy the Turkish war party.

An order telegraphed to Edhem Pasha to cease hostilities probably indicates that the Turkish government is about to yield to the demands of the powers. It is further stated that the porte is now disposed to enter into negotiations to bring about permanent peace with Greece upon terms less onerous than those which have been heretofore demanded.

There is no confirmation here of the report of disturbances at Athens, though, no doubt, there are grounds to fear a popular manifestation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19.—There has been a sudden and unexpected change in the political situation. Russia quietly showed her hand and thereby forced Germany and Turkey out of the game, to all intents and purposes. Turkey, supported by Germany, was practically defying Russia, France, Austria, Great Britain and Italy, insisting upon the annexation of Thessaly in addition to a huge war indemnity and seemingly was determined to march upon Athens.

The ministers received official advices from Sofia announcing that orders had been issued for the partial mobilization of the Bulgarian army possibly at the instigation of Russia. There was a hurried consultation of the ministers. The war party was for further defiance, but in the end pacific counsels seemed to have prevailed, for orders were telegraphed to Edhem Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief in Thessaly, to cease hostilities.

The peace negotiations will now be undertaken in real earnest and the Greeks will most likely be spared any further humiliation.

ATHENS, May 19.—A telegram from Lamia announces that the Greeks have abandoned Domokos.

A later telegram announced that Almyros also had been abandoned and was occupied by the Turks. General Smolenski with his Greek brigade retreating on Kephato.

Colonel Vassos, who recently commanded the Greek army of occupation in the island of Crete, and Colonel Limbricis have started for the front with the whole of the garrison of Athens.

Mrs. Morris avers that her pains ceased with the first prayer and never returned, and in a few weeks' time the cancerous growth went away. The patient is now able to take her meals at the table.

COLUMBUS, May 19.—The Democratic state central committee has decided to hold the state convention in Columbus, June 29 and 30. Judge Ulrick Sloan of Hillsboro will be temporary chairman, and Colonel W. A. Taylor, temporary secretary.

Judge Van Meter of Chillicothe, farmer and formerly attorney, is understood to be the candidate for governor whom John R. McLean will support.

WOMEN AGAIN ARRESTED.

Mesdames Smith and Leuzler Sleep Behind the Bars at Sandusky.

SANDUSKY, May 19.—Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Leuzler, who were released from the police station on bail furnished by their husbands, were rearrested on another charge preferred against them by merchants of grand larceny and secreted stolen goods, and placed in the police station, where they were compelled to spend the night, as no one at the station at that hour was authorized to receive bail in such cases.

The merchants who were victimized by the women decided at a conference to prosecute them to the full extent of the law.

These women, wives of two of the wealthiest and best-known stockraisers in this section of the country, were arrested for shoplifting. The women were caught in the act, and several hundred dollars worth of silks, laces, etc., which they had stolen, were found on their persons and in the carriage in which they had come to this city from their country place at Castalia, six miles east of here.

The women are Mrs. Jay Smith and Mrs. Charles Leuzler, both of them socially prominent and members of two of the oldest families in the country. Their detection, arrest, confessions and subsequent developments cleared up a mystery as to where thousands of dollars worth of goods that mysteriously disappeared from stores had gone to and who took them.

The women went into Giedeman & Homegardner's shoe store to make some purchases. After they had gone the clerk who had waited upon them discovered that not only the pair of shoes sold was gone, but two other pair as well. He informed the proprietors of the fact, and Mr. Giedeman at once went to look for the women. He found them upon the street, and requested that they return with him to the store, which they did. Their confessions followed.

They cried and sobbed and upon their knees begged for mercy, saying that this was their first offense, which statement, according to subsequent developments, seemed to be anything but the truth. Their persons were searched and various articles of value stolen from stores here were found upon them.

Mayor Caldwell's Term Extended.

COLUMBUS, May 19.—The supreme court has pronounced a special act constitutional, which was passed in 1896, extending the term of the mayor of Cincinnati to July 1, 1897. The result is that John A. Caldwell, present mayor, will hold over and make important appointments, some of which continue beyond the term of Gustave Tafel, who was elected mayor this spring and who went into the courts to obtain immediate possession of the office.

Killed by Morphine.

COLUMBUS, May 19.—L. W. Sherwood, treasurer of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Ohio and a prominent druggist, is dead. He had been accustomed to taking morphine tablets for neuralgia. He became alarmingly ill and took several doses of the tablets. The accumulated effect became alarming and caused death.

An Odd Occurrence.

MARION, O., May 19.—Miss Fannie Culley, a waitress at the Hotel Marion, suddenly became faint and dropping a tray of dishes ran to the kitchen and burst into tears. A few minutes later she got word that her brother had been killed at Galion on the Erie road. It has since been discovered that Miss Culley's fainting fit occurred at the exact moment of her brother's death.

Made a Cannon to Die.

DEFIANCE, O., May 19.—Godfried Balske, aged 83 years, constructed of a gaspipe a cannon which he fastened to a block of wood. Balske seated himself on a chair in front of the cannon, opened his shirt, deliberately ignited the fuse and waited for death which was instantaneous. He used a piece of iron for a bullet. Ill health is given as the cause.

A Cleveland Man's Flight.

OWENSBORO, Ky., May 19.—The report that W. J. McConnell, a temperance lecturer of Cleveland, went deranged here was incorrect. He took an opiate for an acute nervous attack and was unable to continue his address. He talked incoherently, but is now on his way home.

SPANIARDS DINED CALHOUN.

The United States Commissioner Entertained in Fine Style at Havana.

HAVANA, May 19.—W. J. Calhoun, the special commissioner of the United States, who is investigating the death of Dr. Ricardo Ruiz, a naturalized American citizen, has visited the Spanish Casino, which was decorated and illuminated in honor of the eleventh birthday of King Alphonso. Mr. Calhoun was accompanied by the Spanish consul at Philadelphia, Dr. Jose Congosto, the mayor of Havana, Senor Michael Diaz, and Dr. Jover, who acted as interpreter.

Mr. Calhoun admired the building and expressed appreciation of the courtesy with which he was received. After the guests and their hosts had partaken of refreshments, the secretary of the Casino toasted "peace for Cuba and sincere and unalterable friendship between the United States and Spain."

Dr. Jover then toasted "President McKinley" in English, which was responded to by Mr. Calhoun. The first words which the latter uttered on gaining his feet showed him to be an accomplished orator, as well as a discreet diplomat.

After some preliminary remarks of a complimentary nature Mr. Calhoun said that when he received his appointment to come to Cuba he formed the idea that he was going to a foreign country, but the hospitality he had met with in Spanish territory had made his residence here so pleasant that he began to believe himself among his own people, and yet was almost forgetting his own country while longing for the approach of peace and progress for Cuba.

KENTUCKY SENATORS QUARRELED.

Holloway Tried to Strike Bronston and the Latter Used His Tongue.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 19.—The silver Democratic minority with possession of the senate, Goebel in the chair and Bronston on the floor, held the floor through an eight-hour session and promises to continue it until the end of the present session on Friday. The Gold Democratic-Republican majority of each house is still determined that the fusion bill shall pass the senate at least, and that it shall go through both houses this summer if there is any way to persuade or force the governor to recall the session.

Senator Holloway, a Gold Democrat, tried to strike Senator Bronston, the Silver Democrat who is holding the floor, and while he was being held away from him Bronston said: "Damn you and your demands," and then: "Turn him loose. I dare you to lay your hand on me, you cowardly whelp."

DR. BRIGGS' SMART DAUGHTER.

First Union Girl Graduate and Took High Honors.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The first woman to be graduated by the faculty of Union Theological seminary received her diploma last night at the sixty-first annual anniversary and commencement of that institution. The interest in the event was doubled by the graduate being Emily Grace Briggs, daughter of Prof. C. A. Briggs, who was suspended by the general assembly after a trial for heresy in 1894.

Miss Briggs, who is in her 21st year, carried off the honors, passing all the men.

TOLEDO, May 19.—At the United Brethren conference devotional exercises were led by C. C. Bell of Oregon. There were nine women delegates elected, but only six are present. Two of them are wives of delegates who are present, one the wife of a minister in the conference, Mrs. Geister of Muscatine, Ia., the wife of a merchant; Miss Dora Scott, daughter of a deceased minister, a teacher and stenographer, Miss Roark of Upper Wabash, a stenographer. They are accorded all the rights of delegates.

TURKEY WILL YIELD.

The Pressure of All Europe on the Porte.

STOPPING OF FIGHTING SHOWS IT.

The Sultan Now Said to Be Ready to Modify His Recent Exacting Terms. Russia to Come to the Rescue of the Little Nation.

LONDON, May 19.—The harmony of the European press on the subject of the conditions of peace is remarkable. The semi-official papers, The Times, The Novoe Vremya, The Temps, The North German Gazette and The Fremdenblatt, are as one in the vigorous terms in which they denounce Turkey's pretensions. Now that the last obstacle to a speedy armistice is removed by Germany, which temporarily blocked the negotiations, having instructed her ambassador at Constantinople, Baron Von Sauerma-Jeltsch, to join the other ambassadors in pressing upon the porte the necessity of agreeing upon an armistice, it can be taken for granted that with the innumerable forms of coercion ready to the hands of the powers, the sultan will yield to the inevitable capture of the Greek positions at Domokos will go far to satisfy the Turkish war party.

An order telegraphed to Edhem Pasha to cease hostilities probably indicates that the Turkish government is about to yield to the demands of the powers. It is further stated that the porte is now disposed to enter into negotiations to bring about permanent peace with Greece upon terms less onerous than those which have been heretofore demanded.

There is no confirmation here of the report of disturbances at Athens, though, no doubt, there are grounds to fear a popular manifestation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19.—There has been a sudden and unexpected change in the political situation. Russia quietly showed her hand and thereby forced Germany and Turkey out of the game, to all intents and purposes. Turkey, supported by Germany, was practically defying Russia, France, Austria, Great Britain and Italy, insisting upon the annexation of Thessaly in addition to a huge war indemnity and seemingly was determined to march upon Athens.

The ministers received official advice from Sofia announcing that orders had been issued for the partial mobilization of the Bulgarian army possibly at the instigation of Russia. There was a hurried consultation of the ministers. The war party was for further defiance, but in the end pacific counsels seemed to have prevailed, for orders were telegraphed to Edhem Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief in Thessaly, to cease hostilities.

The peace negotiations will now be undertaken in real earnest and the Greeks will most likely be spared any further humiliation.

ATHENS, May 19.—A telegram from Lamia announces that the Greeks have abandoned Domokos.

A later telegram announced that Almyros also had been abandoned and was occupied by the Turks. General Smolenski with his Greek brigade retreating on Kephalosi.

Colonel Vassos, who recently commanded the Greek army of occupation in the island of Crete, and Colonel Limbricis have started for the front with the whole of the garrison of Athens.

Cancer Cured by Prayer.

CLEVELAND, May 19.—Mrs. Joseph Morris of Ashtabula has suffered several years with a cancer. Two weeks ago she was at the point of death, when she was induced to try faith cure. She applied to Zion church in Chicago for treatment. The people wrote her at what hour each day they would offer prayer for her, and instructed her to pray simultaneously, which she did. Mrs. Morris avers that her pains ceased with the first prayer and never returned, and in a few weeks' time the cancerous growth went away. The patient is now able to take her meals at the table.

Elected a College President.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—At a recent meeting of the Methodist board of Freedmen's Aid society Rev. Dr. O. M. Melden of Brockton, Mass., was elected president of Clark university at Atlanta. Dr. Melden has not yet accepted, but he is expected in Atlanta today to look over the field and then signify his acceptance or declination.

Scotch-Irish Congress Postponed.

CHATTANOOGA, May 19.—The Scotch-Irish congress, which was to have been held in Detroit, June 10-13, has been postponed because of unavoidable delay in making certain necessary arrangements. It is not probable now, says the secretary, that the congress will be held until fall.

A Compliment to Morris.

PARIS, May 19.—A deputation representing the American chamber of commerce in Paris has presented to Samuel E. Morss, the retiring consul general, an illuminated address and a large silver repousse vase bearing allegorical figures.

MILLIONS IN BUTTONS

CATCHES MADE OF COSTLY DIAMONDS IN THE DAYS OF LOUIS XIV.

An Inventory That Reads Like a Fairy Tale—The Ridiculous Mania For Gigantic Buttons In the Eighteenth Century. Collectors Pay High Prices.

Recently at the Hotel Drouot there was a sale of a curious and interesting collection of ancient buttons, the property of Baron Perignan of Paris. This collection, which was exhibited in 1889 at the exposition of decorative arts, might rival any one of those belonging to the most enthusiastic buttonists in the world. Clapissou, the musician, collected 7,750 different specimens. In 1849 a collector in Ghent exhibited more than 30,000, and M. Maignien, the librarian of the Grenoble library, gained a certain reputation in this branch of curiosities through his collection of buttons of liveries and of uniforms.

The buttons of the eighteenth century bring high prices in the market at the present time. There are some of them that Fragonard, we are told, decorated with his marvelous pencil. In his time it was fashionable to make presents of buttons as big as a crown piece, on which allegories and various subjects were carved.

Bachaumont writes in his "Secret Memoirs," Nov. 18, 1786: "The mania for buttons is today extremely ridiculous. They are not only of enormous size, some of them as big as six pound crowns, but miniatures and pictures are made upon them, and this ornamentation is extremely costly. Some of them represent the medals of the 12 Cæsars, others antique statues and still others the Metamorphoses of Ovid."

Isabeau, in his biographical notes, says that when he came to Paris he worked for a living by making copies of Vanloos and Bouchers on the lids of snuffboxes, and that for these medallions he was paid from 6 to 8 francs each. "As it was still the fashion," he said, "to wear buttons as big as a 5 franc piece, upon which Cupids, flowers and landscapes were cut in cameo, I went into that business. I got 12 sous for each."

Two years after this period in the life of Bachaumont buttons abandoned erudition to take up edileship. All the fine monuments of Paris were carved on them. Then came the patriotic buttons, representing the taking of the Bastille, the emblem of the three orders, the Phrygian cap, the portraits of Louis XVI, of Mirabeau.

Shortly afterwards these ornaments were laid aside. The reign of the artistic button was over, and the mother of pearl button became general.

The oldest buttons at present in the museums and among the collections are the gold buttons discovered at Mycenæ, at the time of the excavations undertaken by Dr. Schliemann, and also those found in the tomb of Childeric I. The latter were exhibited at the Louvre in the Musée des Souverains. They are made of gold and of colored glass, imitating garnet. Buttons detached from copes and religious garments of the middle ages and of the renaissance have also been discovered.

But the richest things of the kind, beyond a doubt, are those that were worn by Louis XIV. M. Maze-Sencier, in the "Register of Diamonds and Presents to the King," at present preserved in the ministry of foreign affairs, gives an official account of the buttons of that pompous sovereign. It is as follows:

"Feb. 3, 1685.—Montarcy presented to the king 80 diamond buttons, valued at 180,030 livres.

"May 7, 1685.—Made and delivered by Sieur Bosc, 6 diamond buttons, 80,000 livres.

"July 26, 1685.—Handed over by Montarcy to the Marquis de Seignelay for the king 75 diamond buttons, 586,703 livres.

"Aug. 1, 1685.—Two diamond buttons, 67,866 livres.

"Aug. 16, 1685.—Three diamond buttons, 69,660 livres.

"Dec. 20, 1685.—Four diamond buttons, 83,775 livres."

Another item in the same year:

"July 26, 1685.—Furnished by Montarcy for the king's vest: Forty-eight gold buttons, each set with a diamond, and 96 clasps, 48 of which were composed of five diamonds each and 48 of one diamond each, 185,123 livres.

"Also 384 clasps for the doublet of the king, 162 of which were formed of five diamonds each and 162 of one diamond each, 1,006,345 livres.

"In addition there were seven ornamental clasps of three diamonds each, 201,270 livres.

"Sundry presents, 33 ornamented clasps, 574,366 livres."

That foots up a total of about 3,000,000 livres for the buttons of the "Great King" for the single year of 1685. The preceding year Louis XIV received a lot of buttons that were valued at 1,071,000 livres. In these enumerations there is no mention of the diamonds for the shoes, the garters, the cuffs and the hats of the monarch.

We are obliged to admit, with our coats and overcoats garnished with miserable little cloth and bone affairs, we cut a poor figure in the fancy button business compared to the dudes of the days of Louis XIV.—Paris Figaro.

Time to Change.

It was at a table d'hôte dinner at a hill station in India that a very young officer just up from the plains found himself seated next to a lady whom he took for one of the grass widows common in those parts. He made himself agreeable, but his neighbor seemed a good deal out of spirits, so he said sympathetically:

"I suppose you can't help thinking of your poor husband grilling down below?"

But the lady was a real widow, and when he learned that he changed his seat.—London Vanity Fair.

He Got Out.

It is related of the late General Pleasanton that one night while he was in a Washington saloon a man entered and began to attack the character and courage of the Confederate soldiers. Pleasanton gave a start of surprise as he recognized the man and asked if he remembered him. The stranger said he did not, whereupon the general said: "I am Alfred Pleasanton. I had you drummed out of my camp for cowardice before Antietam. Get out of this place, sir!" The man hung his head and hurried out.

By Canoe From Coast to Coast.

Mr. F. C. Nicholas recently described the goldfields of western Colombia for the geological section of the New York Academy of Sciences, and incidentally pointed out a route by which, in the wet season, a man might go in a canoe from the Atlantic to the Pacific across the northwestern corner of South America. The proposed route follows the river Atrato to the divide, which lies in a series of swamps, and then, by way of one or two smaller streams, reaches the river San Juan, which empties into the Pacific.

Cigarettes at Auction.

A party of regulars in Charterland had been out for some time in the velvet, and their supply of minor luxuries had long since given out. There was not a pipe of tobacco to be raised in the whole force, when some good, thrifty soul produced a package of cigarettes and said that he would put them up to auction. This was done, and the packet of ten pieces was disposed of in ten lots at an average price of 10 shillings each.—Johannesburg (South Africa) Standard and Diggers' News.

The Obliging Bankrupt.

Good comradeship may count for much. No man ever typified this better than the Wall street broker who said to his friend the reporter: "I didn't fail until after the evening papers went to press, so that you could have it all to yourself in the morning. Come around in an hour or so, and I'll give you the figures."—Writer.

To Make an Oyster Cocktail.

An oyster cocktail is made by putting into a glass half a dozen tiny little oysters, to which add a few drops of tabasco, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful of tomato ketchup and a tablespoonful of lemon juice.—Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

THE GUIDE BOARD LAW

Efforts Will Be Made to Have It Enforced.

THE LEAGUE MEMBERS WANT IT

Farmers Are Also Interested—The Movement Was Started Last Winter, but Allowed to Die Out—State Officials Now Urge It.

The Ohio division of the League of American Wheelmen are anxious to have guide boards erected along the roads of Columbiana county, and its officers are urging prominent bicyclists and farmers to see that the law is enforced.

A few months ago the attention of leading wheelmen of the city was called to the law passed by the last legislature which provides for guide boards in every township. Upon the petition of ten freeholders, who are electors of the township, the trustees shall cause guide boards to be erected, and if they fail to do so within 60 days the petitioners may erect them and collect the cost, not to exceed $5 per post. The law was passed with the hope that the state would soon be like an open book to the traveler, and in some counties the law has been carried out. Arthur E. Chase, chairman of the committee of publicity, put the matter plainly before a number of wheelmen of this city last winter, and this week sent other letters to the city. He has also urged farmers to move in the matter, and believes that something will be done. The law was passed through the influence of the league, and was intended for the benefit of the traveling public.

JUMPED FROM A CAR.

He Sounded the Bell but the Motorman Didn't Hear.

By jumping off a street car, near Ralston crossing yesterday afternoon, M. C. Meeker fell and dislocated his shoulder. He was taken to the office of Doctor Laughlin, and with the assistance of several other physicians, the doctor succeeded in setting the shoulder. Meeker claims he pulled the bell rope no less than five times, but the motorman paid no heed to the warning. Not wishing to be carried by the crossing, he jumped, with the above result. His clothing was torn almost to shreds.

HUNTING FOR A ROBBER.

Lawrence Heddleson Went Into Jefferson County.

Lawrence Heddleson spent yesterday in Jefferson county endeavoring to locate Harry Sarr, who Monday afternoon robbed the home of Charles Ale. He was unsuccessful in his search and returned late last night. In addition to the articles mentioned yesterday the thief took with him three loaves of bread, a gold ring and an umbrella.

NOT SO MUCH TRADE.

But Liverpool Ware Is Still In Good Demand.

The potteries are not rushed with orders as they were a few weeks ago, but there is still a steady demand for ware. Orders for decorated goods make up the principal part of business, and there is more demand for toilet than was noted a short time ago. The opinion is general that trade will be good until the summer holidays.

Collided With a Buggy.

Miss Tillie Copestick last evening while bicycle riding in Fifth street ran into a buggy. She was thrown from her wheel to the pavement, but luckily escaped serious injury. The bicycle was not damaged to any great extent, but it was a narrow escape for the young lady.

Won a Race.

Yesterday afternoon a horse race for $50 a side took place at Silver Thorn driving park, between horses owned by Edward Buchheit, of this city, and H. J. Faulkner, of Fairview. The horse of Buchheit was given a start of one-fourth mile in a mile heat and won the race.

A McKinley Club Meeting.

The McKinley club will hold their regular meeting tomorrow night, and expect to transact important business. The trustees will report as to the financial condition of the club, and arrangements looking toward the opening of the room will be made.

"As it was still the fashion," he said, "to wear buttons as big as a 5 franc piece, upon which Cupids, flowers and landscapes were cut in cameo, I went into that business. I got 12 sous for each."

Two years after this period in the life of Bachaumont buttons abandoned erudition to take up edulship. All the fine monuments of Paris were carved on them. Then came the patriotic buttons, representing the taking of the Bastille, the emblem of the three orders, the Phrygian cap, the portraits of Louis XVI, of Mirabeau.

Shortly afterward these ornaments were laid aside. The reign of the artistic button was over, and the mother of pearl button became general.

The oldest buttons at present in the museums and among the collections are the gold buttons discovered at Mycenae, at the time of the excavations undertaken by Dr. Schliemann, and also those found in the tomb of Childeric I. The latter were exhibited at the Louvre in the Musee des Souverains. They are made of gold and of colored glass, imitating garnet. Buttons detached from copes and religious garments of the middle ages and of the renaissance have also been discovered.

But the richest things of the kind, beyond a doubt, are those that were worn by Louis XIV. M. Maze-Sencier, in the "Register of Diamonds and Presents to the King," at present preserved in the ministry of foreign affairs, gives an official account of the buttons of that pompous sovereign. It is as follows:

"Feb. 3, 1685.—Montarcy presented to the king 80 diamond buttons, valued at 180,030 livres.

"May 7, 1685.—Made and delivered by Sieur Bosc, 6 diamond buttons, 30,000 livres.

"July 26, 1685.—Handed over by Montarcy to the Marquis de Seignelay for the king 75 diamond buttons, 586,703 livres.

"Aug. 1, 1685.—Two diamond buttons, 67,866 livres.

"Aug. 16, 1685.—Three diamond buttons, 69,660 livres.

"Dec. 20, 1685.—Four diamond buttons, 83,775 livres."

Another item in the same year:

"July 26, 1685.—Furnished by Montarcy for the king's vest: Forty-eight gold buttons, each set with a diamond, and 96 clasps, 48 of which were composed of five diamonds each and 48 of one diamond each, 185,123 livres.

"Also 384 clasps for the doublet of the king, 162 of which were formed of five diamonds each and 162 of one diamond each, 1,006,345 livres.

"In addition there were seven ornamental clasps of three diamonds each, 201,270 livres.

"Sundry presents, 33 ornamented clasps, 574,366 livres."

That foots up a total of about 3,000,000 livres for the buttons of the "Great King" for the single year of 1685. The preceding year Louis XIV received a lot of buttons that were valued at 1,071,000 livres. In these enumerations there is no mention of the diamonds for the shoes, the garters, the cuffs and the hats of the monarch.

We are obliged to admit, with our coats and overcoats garnished with miserable little cloth and bone affairs, we cut a poor figure in the fancy button business compared to the dudes of the days of Louis XIV.—Paris Figaro.

Time to Change.

It was at a table d'hote dinner at a hill station in India that a very young officer just up from the plains found himself seated next to a lady whom he took for one of the grass widows common in those parts. He made himself agreeable, but his neighbor seemed a good deal out of spirits, so he said sympathetically:

"I suppose you can't help thinking of your poor husband grilling down below?"

But the lady was a real widow, and when he learned that he changed his seat.—London Vanity Fair.

He Got Out.

It is related of the late General Pleasanton that one night while he was in a Washington saloon a man entered and began to attack the character and courage of the Confederate soldiers. Pleasanton gave a start of surprise as he recognized the man and asked if he remembered him. The stranger said he did not, whereupon the general said: "I am Alfred Pleasanton. I had you drummed out of my camp for cowardice before Antietam. Get out of this place, sir!" The man hung his head and hurried out.

By Canoe From Coast to Coast.

Mr. F. C. Nicholas recently described the goldfields of western Colombia for the geological section of the New York Academy of Sciences, and incidentally pointed out a route by which, in the wet season, a man might go in a canoe from the Atlantic to the Pacific across the northwestern corner of South America. The proposed route follows the river Atrato to the divide, which lies in a series of swamps, and then, by way of one or two smaller streams, reaches the river San Juan, which empties into the Pacific.

Cigarettes at Auction.

A party of regulars in Charterland had been out for some time in theveldt, and their supply of minor luxuries had long since given out. There was not a pipe of tobacco to be raised in the whole force, when some good, thrifty soul produced a package of cigarettes and said that he would put them up to auction. This was done, and the packet of ten pieces was disposed of in ten lots at an average price of 10 shillings each.—Johannesburg (South Africa) Standard and Diggers' News.

Too Newfangled.

The Obliging Bankrupt.

Good comradeship may count for much. No man ever typified this better than the Wall street broker who said to his friend the reporter: "I didn't fail until after the evening papers went to press, so that you could have it all to yourself in the morning. Come around in an hour or so, and I'll give you the figures."—Writer.

To Make an Oyster Cocktail.

An oyster cocktail is made by putting into a glass half a dozen tiny little oysters, to which add a few drops of tabasco, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful of tomato ketchup and a tablespoonful of lemon juice.—Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

Hard Work.

"What was the hardest work you ever did for a living?" asked the benevolent old lady of the weary pilgrim.

M. Maignault, the famous anatomist, discovered that by forcing air into the larynx of a dead animal sounds could be produced very similar to those of the voice during life.

THE GUIDE BOARD LAW

Efforts Will Be Made to Have It Enforced.

THE LEAGUE MEMBERS WANT IT

Farmers Are Also Interested—The Movement Was Started Last Winter, but Allowed to Die Out—State Officials Now Urge It.

The Ohio division of the League of American Wheelmen are anxious to have guide boards erected along the roads of Columbiana county, and its officers are urging prominent bicyclists and farmers to see that the law is enforced.

A few months ago the attention of leading wheelmen of the city was called to the law passed by the last legislature which provides for guide boards in every township. Upon the petition of ten freeholders, who are electors of the township, the trustees shall cause guide boards to be erected, and if they fail to do so within 60 days the petitioners may erect them and collect the cost, not to exceed $5 per post. The law was passed with the hope that the state would soon be like an open book to the traveler, and in some counties the law has been carried out. Arthur E. Chase, chairman of the committee of publicity, put the matter plainly before a number of wheelmen of this city last winter, and this week sent other letters to the city. He has also urged farmers to move in the matter, and believes that something will be done. The law was passed through the influence of the league, and was intended for the benefit of the traveling public.

JUMPED FROM A CAR.

He Sounded the Bell but the Motorman Didn't Hear.

By jumping off a street car, near Ralston crossing yesterday afternoon, M. C. Meeker fell and dislocated his shoulder. He was taken to the office of Doctor Laughlin, and with the assistance of several other physicians, the doctor succeeded in setting the shoulder. Meeker claims he pulled the bell rope no less than five times, but the motorman paid no heed to the warning. Not wishing to be carried by the crossing, he jumped, with the above result. His clothing was torn almost to shreds.

HUNTING FOR A ROBBER.

Lawrence Heddleson Went Into Jefferson County.

Lawrence Heddleson spent yesterday in Jefferson county endeavoring to locate Harry Sarr, who Monday afternoon robbed the home of Charles Aley. He was unsuccessful in his search and returned late last night. In addition to the articles mentioned yesterday the thief took with him three loaves of bread, a gold ring and an umbrella.

NOT SO MUCH TRADE.

But Liverpool Ware Is Still In Good Demand.

The potteries are not rushed with orders as they were a few weeks ago, but there is still a steady demand for ware. Orders for decorated goods make up the principal part of business, and there is more demand for toilet than was noted a short time ago. The opinion is general that trade will be good until the summer holidays.

Collided With a Buggy.

Miss Tillie Copestick last evening while bicycle riding in Fifth street ran into a buggy. She was thrown from her wheel to the pavement, but luckily escaped serious injury. The bicycle was not damaged to any great extent, but it was a narrow escape for the young lady.

Won a Race.

Yesterday afternoon a horse race for $50 a side took place at Silver Thorn driving park, between horses owned by Edward Buchheit, of this city, and H. J. Faulkner, of Fairview. The horse of Buchheit was given a start of one-fourth mile in a mile heat and won the race.

WELLSVILLE.
COAL BY THE TRAIN
Thousands of Tons Were Moved in the Yards.
EIGHT SECTIONS OF IRON ORE

The Cleveland and Pittsburg Is Doing a Great Deal of Business--A Councilman on the Police Question--New Water Pipe to Be Laid--Some Oil News.

The Cleveland & Pittsburg has been handling more freight than in several years at this season, and the Wellsville yards have been a busy place these past few weeks. Over 1,600 cars of coal were taken through this place last week, and the iron ore shipments have been unusually large. Eight sections carrying ore came in from Cleveland yesterday. It is the opinion of some railroad men that the furnace companies are stocking up, but the run of coal was to be expected,
although it is much heavier than usual.

DUKE VISITED IN BEAVER,
And a Great Many Valuable Chickens
Were Missed.

The chief of police of Beaver telephoned Officer Morgan last night to arrest Addison Duke, who is wanted in that place for stealing chickens. It seems that Duke visited in Beaver last week, and a resident missed a lot of fine fowls, including a valuable game rooster.
It is alleged that a man answering to Duke's description sold some of the chickens to a Beaver grocer, and returned to Wellsville yesterday. The owner of the chickens offers $25 for the return of his rooster. Officers searched diligently for Duke last night, but he could not be found.

The News of Wellsville.
A leading member of council is of the opinion that Wellsville can get along very well without a chief of police, and three policemen should be appointed at $50 a month, all fees to go to the city.
That is a good plan of retrenchment.

The water works trustees have instructed Superintendent Fogo to lay 300 feet of pipe on Fifteenth street. It will connect Main with Center and Commerce streets. A better pressure in West End will result.

Charles Thompson, a brick molder, of Toronto, is now employed at the Vulcan.
Frank T. McClain, a prominent business man of Toronto, was in Wellsville last night.

John Nicholson will move his printing establishment to the E. G. Whitacre building.

Mrs. Noah Bell, of Eighteenth street, is visiting in Columbus.

A Toronto wheelman suffered an accident in Nicholson addition. His wheel was broken in two.

Messrs. Russell and Welch, of West End, rode their wheels to Irondale yesterday.

The drill has been started in the new well of the Wellsville Oil company on the Johnson farm, and has reached a depth of 100 feet. Two carloads of casing were hauled to the field this week.

Mr. McCready has a good thing in the well he bought from the company who drilled on his place. He will pipe the gas to his home.

An important meeting of the hook and ladder company will be held Friday night.

The son of John Rayl, upon whom a delicate operation was performed, continues to improve.

Mr. and Mrs. John McNutt have gone to Mexico for a stay of two months. Mr.
McNutt has mining interests in that country.

J. B. Hayes, of Main street, captured an eagle on the hillside the other day.
It is a youngster.

The finance committee have determined on as the tax levy for 1897, 12.3
mills. This is a reduction of .1 mill from the last fiscal year. The valuation is $1,750,000 this year, or $50,000 less than last year. Council, in called session, Friday evening, will probably confirm the levy.

E. L. Bates, of Fort Wayne, is here with the pile driver, preparing a foundation for a set of scales to be built on the river bank near Tenth street.

Two negroes were captured in the yards last night for train jumping. One was with a man who had a horse on the train, and it is against the rules for more than one to ride on a ticket of that kind.

All the witnesses who went to Lisbon to testify in the Connors case are home.

THE AMALGAMATED CONVENTION.

Humorously Threatened With Arrest if Night Sessions Are Held.

DETROIT, May 19.—Delegates to the twenty-second annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of America were welcomed felicitously by Mayor Maybury at the beginning of their sessions. He warned them, however, that if they persisted in night work that he would order the police to stop them.

President Garland responding said that a shorter workday was exactly what the association was after. "We try," said he, "to give the best that human hands and skill can give. We ask in return the best wage the employer can give us."

Routine business occupied the remainder of the session. The wage scale will be reported today and will then be discussed for a week or more. The attendance is larger than last year, about 150 delegates being present. Canada is not represented.

United Brethren Church Conference.

CANTON, O., May 19.—The general conference of the United Brethren in Christ is being held in a country church east of this city and is being attended by a large number of delegates, including 34 Pennsylvanians and the bishops of the church. The sect is very similar to the Dunkards. The men wear semi-clerical garb and the women Quaker-like gowns of somber black. They are a picturesque group. The men in greeting each other embrace and kiss. Formal handshaking is the greeting of the women.

Suspected of Destroying Body.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Additional developments in the murder mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Louisa Luetgert, the imprisoned sausage manufacturer's wife, have led to the firm belief that if Luetgert killed her he did so without any help. The vats are being examined, in one of which Mrs. Luetgert's body is supposed to have been destroyed.

POSTOFFICES and pensions are giving the government something to do while the country waits on the tariff bill.

Do your shopping at home. Every dollar taken out of the city means that damage to that extent has been done its retail interests.

THE popularity of any party will suffer when that party, in open defiance of its accepted theories, bows down at the feet of a monopolist whose only claim upon their consideration is found in his riches.

A NEW YORK landscape artist is raising quite a breeze by declaring that shade trees can be grown in New York. That man would make money by introducing his system in East Liverpool.

THE department of agriculture has frequently been looked upon as nothing more than a good joke, but Secretary Wilson is showing that it can be made a very important part of the government.

WHAT a nice time Mr. Bryan will have explaining to Ohio why Peru, Japan, Venezuela, Brazil, Ecuador and Bolivia have given up silver and turned to gold. His story might sound well in the wilderness of the west, but it certainly will not answer for intelligent Ohio.

THE effort of John Wanamaker to embarrass the administration will not meet with popular approval, even though the country is anxiously awaiting a return of prosperity. Wanamaker should know that a strong pull, and a pull altogether is what the business world needs at present.

McLEAN could attract general attention to his canvass by publishing the salaries of the silver statesmen he proposes to have stump the state in his behalf. It would make interesting reading, and give an appreciative public some idea of the amount he expects to invest in the campaign.

THE fight for senator in Florida cost so much money that the legislature passed a resolution providing that at the next election the people shall vote for senator, members of the legislature being morally bound to carry out their instructions. The plan is worthy the consideration of more important states than Florida.

DEMOCRACY IS RESPONSIBLE.

If mills do not start and if factories do not begin operations Democracy is responsible. If women and children are hungry while their husbands and fathers search vainly for the work that can not be found, the cause of their distress can be laid at the door of the Democratic party. President McKinley and the Republican senators are anxious to see a tariff law placed upon the statute books. They want it drawn upon protective lines in order that it may provide honest wages and abundant work for the workingman as well as produce sufficient revenue to pay the operating expenses of the government. This can only be done by co-operation on the part of the opposition. The avowed enemies of protection have the deciding vote. They can either help to make the country prosperous, or plunge it into even deeper poverty than that produced by their own miserable administration. Delay can ruin the tariff bill, and the Democrats have power to delay.

Not Badly Hurt.

The young lad named Mullen, who fell from a trestle at the Thompson pottery yesterday, returned to work this morning. He was not badly injured.

TAUGHT THE CHILDREN

Lessons In 'Patriotism From Old Soldiers.

MANY SCHOOLS WERE VISITED

The Program of the Grand Army Is Being Faithfully Carried Out by the Committees--Appropriate Decorations and Programs.

Yesterday and today are notable in the history of General Lyon post, because the Grand Army boys are carrying out the injunction to teach the school children patriotism.

Appropriate decorations and programs have been the order, the various school buildings ringing with patriotic music from the throats of young as well as older patriots. The plan was to have a given number of veterans visit the schools, committees being selected for each building, and they began the pleasant task yesterday.

The West End school was decorated with flags and bunting when visited by Henry Abrams, Captain Lloyd and W. T. McCain. The gentlemen were enthusiastically greeted by the youngsters, and the subject of patriotism was put before them. N. A. Frederick and J. J. Gipner visited the East End, where they too were given a warm reception.

Hon. A. H. McCoy, D. J. Smith, W. T. McCain, William Beardmore, Mr. Grimm and others attended the exercises at the Grant street school, this morning, and went this afternoon to Central building where Prof. O. S. Reed joined the party. The addresses were good and pleased the children. Tomorrow Mr. McCoy, accompanied by other Grand Army men, will visit Gardendale, Trentvale and Third street.

SECOND WEEK IN JUNE

Will See the Opening of the Spring Grove Dormitory.

The trustees of Spring Grove met last night, and after paying a few bills, Messrs. Kelly, Harker and Walker were appointed to consider the advisability of employing some suitable person to take charge of the dormitory and store for the season. G. W. Croxall was appointed on the executive committee to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Mr. Metsch. A picnic will be held Saturday at the grounds, if the weather is favorable and the ladies will at that time clean and fit up a number of rooms in the hotel. It is the intention to open it to the public the second week in June.

LOTS OF SMOKE.

But No Fire Connected With That Columbus Case.

George Hamilton has returned from Columbus, and reports the trouble over the appointment of a steward in the deaf and dumb asylum as being settled, and J. K. Pollard still holds the position. All the trustees were in favor of him but one recently elected, and as Governor Bushnell did not ask for his resignation the trustees decided he was the right man in the right place. The steward is not elected every year, but holds his position until he resigns or is removed from office.

A GOOD LECTURE.

Rev. O. S. Reed Talked to Two Associations.

Reverend Reed delivered a splendid lecture on Martin Luther at the association auditorium last evening, it being the second of the series conducted by the university class and the association. The gentleman gave an excellent view of the reformation, and pointed out those traits which raised Martin Luther high above his fellow men. The attendance was large.

A BIG SHIPMENT.

Five Cars of Pottery Were Sent to New York.

Five cars of pottery were loaded in the local freight yards, today, for shipment to New York. It is the largest single order that has been filled in the city for quite a time. The order was divided between the Liverpool and Sebring plants.

The total number of cars handled in the yards yesterday is estimated at 69, of which 17 were loaded at the sheds.

Left to Himself.

There is a disconsolate man in the lower part of the city, and the neighbors are talking. His wife disappeared a few weeks ago, and it is not known where she went, but there are rumors of another man in the case.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and Mrs. Thomas Alexander, of Cleveland, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Douglass.

Couldn't See Them.
Editor (to office boy)—I left some jokes on the desk here last night. Have you seen them?
Office Boy—No, sir. Me and the doorkeeper spent half an hour studyin 'em last night, and neither of us could see a one of 'em, sir.—Pearson's Weekly.

DELEGATES HAVE GONE

Last Service of the Epworth League Convention.

SEVERAL EXCELLENT ADDRESSES

Reverend Salmon Gave a Short Talk, and Al Ferran Spoke of "Consecrated Enthusiasm"—Next Meeting May Be Held at the First Church.

The second session of the third convention of the Epworth League was held last evening in the Second M. E. church. The audience, though large, was attentive.

The session was opened by the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Reverend Salmon gave a short talk. In part the speaker said:

"The Master tells his apostles in Matthew to go out into all parts of the world and preach the gospel. Everyone has a work to perform. One year of postponement may be the cause of our souls being lost. How many of us will be lost by this delay? Procrastination is truly the thief of time, and if we obey the word of God we will go out quickly. We will go out in the highways and in the hedges, and ask others to come to Christ. We as Epworth Leaguers have a duty to perform. This duty is to go after the unsaved. Not only go after the cultured unsaved but those who are otherwise. Methinks some parents do more for other families than they do for their own. Should a canvass be made of the city, I dare say seventy-five per cent of the people are backsliders. If this be the case, what a wonderful work there is to be performed. When a young man or woman enters the church, it is the duty of that church's members to see that the person does not go back. Hence there is a two-fold work to be performed. When we look at an unsaved man we no doubt think he will ask us, 'Did Christ save you?' We will prosper wonderfully if we will only take the advice of Christ."

Al Ferran spoke of "Consecrated Enthusiasm." "What does a young fellow like to do more than kill time?" he asked. "A man may talk in his sleep, and I have heard preachers preach in their sleep, but I never saw a man work in his sleep. There is a vast amount of energy going to waste, all for the lack of enthusiasm. Look how cheerful a bartender is. He makes it interesting for a caller, and that caller is sure to come again, if not to buy, then because he was treated in a seemingly nice way. Why not have our societies this way? Let us have an overflow of enthusiasm. Let us be a witness for God. Don't let us tell our neighbors what kind of Christians we are, but rather tell them what a wonderful Savior there is awaiting their coming. If we are all to have mansions above I venture to say someone will find fault with the surroundings. When a war is on there are volunteers who are almost numberless. When there is a call for volunteers for the army of Christ, how many are there? There is a cry for volunteers for Christ now. You have a never failing captain. Are you one? Don't be like a well, dry up in the summer and freeze in the winter."

J. L. Smith, of Toronto, spoke of the "Attitude of the League to the Saloon." The tone of the speaker's talk was that relating to the overthrowing of the saloon. He also urged the church and the League to work against the saloon.

Miss Stella McNutt gave a very interesting talk in reference to the Junior League. The speaker gave a short history of the society. It was organized in England in 1711 by Mrs. Susana Wesley who was the leader. John and Charles were prominent members. Other data was given which proved instructive to all present.

Rev. S. J. Reager delivered an address treating upon the "Ideal Christian." In part he said, "If the Epworth League would be the means of making a few ideal Christians how grand a world we would have. It would turn upside down or else it would do the reverse. The world is growing better day by day and it is being helped along by all people who are working for the good of the Master."

The next convention will, from present indications, be held at the First M. E. church, of this city in September. There was no definite action taken at the meeting last evening.

LITTLE FIRES

There Were a Lot of Them in Town Last Night.

The members of the fire department last evening were entertained by Don H. Henderson, who represents the Underwriters' Fire Extinguisher. The gentleman carries a small stove with him, and builds numerous fires and puts them out, at the same time explaining to the members the system upon which the extinguishers work. The firemen heartily enjoyed the entertainment. A number of potters will place the extinguishers in their factories.

MISS ANNA ROWE.

The End of a Beautiful Life Came This Morning.

Miss Anna Rowe died this morning at 4 o'clock at her home in Third street from an attack of typhoid fever aged 28 years. Deceased was a daughter of Phillip Rowe, and was beloved and respected by all who knew her. She was of a cheerful, sunny disposition always ready to greet her friends with a smile. She had an unusually large circle of friends who will hear with regret of her death. She was an earnest member of the Methodist Protestant church.

Membraneous croup caused the death of a seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marcroft last night. The child had been ill but a short time when death came. The funeral will be held at the home of her parents in Fourth street tomorrow afternoon after which the body will be taken to St. Aloysius church where mass will be observed. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Welch took place this morning from the M. P. church. It was largely attended. Interment was made at Township Line cemetery.

BASE BALL BITS.

Some News For Those Who Like the Diamond.

The Sebring pottery ball club want to challenge any pottery team in the city to play them for fun or money.

John Hester is playing an unusually fast game at third base for the Pittsburg college team, and in the game played yesterday between the past and present teams had three runs, three hits, three putouts, three assists and one error.

Percy Albright continues to play good ball with the Lansing team, and at present leads his club in batting with an average of .371.

Timothy Twaddle and Mike Lynch are putting up a first class game with the Auburn, N. Y., team, and will undoubtedly be found holding their positions at the close of the season.

C. S. Eppler, of Wellsville, was the winner of the season ticket given by a Pittsburg paper, for the person guessing nearest to the correct score in the New York-Pittsburg ball game Monday. His guess was like seven others, but he was selected by President Kerr as the winner.

THE DOOR WAS OPEN

And an Employee Lay Dead Drunk Behind the Counter.

Last midnight Officer Earl was passing along Sixth street, and noticed the door of a store standing wide open. The officer thought at first he had discovered burglars, and at once investigated. When he got inside he noticed the room was filled with the fumes of liquor. He then searched the place, and found one of the employees behind a counter dead drunk. It would have been a very easy matter for any one to have robbed the place, but luckily the officer saw it first.

NEXT MONTH

The Government Engineers Will Resume Work on the River.

The United States engineering boat, moored at this port for some time, will leave next month to begin the season's work at Industry. Low water is expected about June 15, when the steamer Edna will tow the corps up the river. The boat is now being renovated and a lot of paint is being consumed in beautifying the barge. Some work will be done around this city early in September.

THE SUN AND A COMB

Formed a Combination Which Caused a Fire.

A small fire occurred yesterday afternoon in the bathroom at the residence of A. G. Mason, Seventh street. It was discovered by the girl, and extinguished before it had gained much headway, although the wainscoting was badly scorched. How the fire started is a mystery, but it is supposed the sun's rays focused on a celluloid comb and it ignited causing the blaze.

Odd Fellows at Church.

The colored Odd Fellows will, Sunday evening, hold a thanksgiving service in the African Methodist Episcopal church. They will attend in a body, and will be addressed by Reverend Carson. The program will mainly consist of responsive reading and music.

ANOTHER BARN BURNED

Believed to Be the Work of Incendiaries.

STOCK AND GRAIN DESTROYED

No Cause For the Fire is Assigned Other Than That Some Miscreant Applied the Match--The Second Fire Within a Few Weeks.

Shortly after midnight the barn of William Rudebaugh, who lives near Clarkson, caught fire and was destroyed.

Neighbors discovered the flames and awakened Mr. Rudebaugh and his family, but it was too late to do anything, and they were compelled to stand idly by and watch the barn burn to the ground. The barn was an old one, but as Mr. Rudebaugh had no wagon shed he kept all his farming machinery and wagons in the place.

Three horses and five head of cattle, and a number of hogs and sheep were burned, while a large stock of grain, wagons, machinery and harness are a total loss. The barn was insured in the Township Line company, but not for anything like its value.

Mr. Rudebaugh has no idea how the blaze started, and as it is the second barn that has been burned in the neighborhood in the last six months the majority of the farmers believe there is an incendiary about.

PAID TO THE MAYOR.

A Few Drunks Settle Their Old Scores.

There was little trouble on the streets last night, and but one arrest was made.

James Cannon could not put up the necessary $7.75 at his hearing yesterday, and now Mr. Cannon is the city janitor. All the eggs he took into the coop have been disposed of.

Jack Delany yesterday afternoon put up his little $7.75 and was let go. But Jack is back again. He got a few glasses soon after his liberation, and, as a result he is now back among old acquaintances.

Jack will be given a hearing late this afternoon, and will receive the same dose as was given him yesterday.

Mr. Deitz, when arrested Monday, said he worked for a Sixth street tailor, and had not as yet received his last week's salary. The tailor was sent for yesterday afternoon, and now Mr. Deitz is a free man.

Tim Strain and James Elwell are still dining at the expense of the city. They have been given a hearing, but as neither one had lucre they were sent back.

The cut Elwell received from the wooden peg of Mr. Strain is getting well, and within a few days will be healed.

Will Have a Picnic.

A committee from Trades council held a session at the mayor's office last night, and decided to hold a picnic at Rock Spring June 15. A committee was appointed to call upon the merchants, and ask of them to give their employees a half holiday on that date.

DELEGATES HAVE GONE

Last Service of the Epworth League Convention.

SEVERAL EXCELLENT ADDRESSES

Reverend Salmon Gave a Short Talk, and Al Ferran Spoke of "Consecrated Enthusiasm"—Next Meeting May Be Held at the First Church.

The second session of the third convention of the Epworth League was held last evening in the Second M. E. church. The audience, though large, was attentive.

The session was opened by the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Reverend Salmon gave a short talk. In part the speaker said:

"The Master tells his apostles in Matthew to go out into all parts of the world and preach the gospel. Everyone has a work to perform. One year of postponement may be the cause of our souls being lost. How many of us will be lost by this delay? Procrastination is truly the thief of time, and if we obey the word of God we will go out quickly. We will go out in the highways and in the hedges, and ask others to come to Christ. We as Epworth Leaguers have a duty to perform. This duty is to go after the unsaved. Not only go after the cultured unsaved but those who are otherwise. Methinks some parents do more for other families than they do for their own. Should a canvass be made of the city, I dare say seventy-five per cent of the people are backsliders. If this be the case, what a wonderful work there is to be performed. When a young man or woman enters the church, it is the duty of that church's members to see that the person does not go back. Hence there is a two-fold work to be performed. When we look at an unsaved man we no doubt think he will ask us, 'Did Christ save you?' We will prosper wonderfully if we will only take the advice of Christ."

Al Ferran spoke of "Consecrated Enthusiasm." "What does a young fellow like to do more than kill time?" he asked. "A man may talk in his sleep, and I have heard preachers preach in their sleep, but I never saw a man work in his sleep. There is a vast amount of energy going to waste, all for the lack of enthusiasm. Look how cheerful a bartender is. He makes it interesting for a caller, and that caller is sure to come again, if not to buy, then because he was treated in a seemingly nice way. Why not have our societies this way? Let us have an overflow of enthusiasm. Let us be a witness for God. Don't let us tell our neighbors what kind of Christians we are, but rather tell them what a wonderful Savior there is awaiting their coming. If we are all to have mansions above I venture to say someone will find fault with the surroundings. When a war is on there are volunteers who are almost numberless. When there is a call for volunteers for the army of Christ, how many are there? There is a cry for volunteers for Christ now. You have a never failing captain. Are you one? Don't be like a well, dry up in the summer and freeze in the winter."

PREPARING TO DRILL

Farmers Believe They Will Strike Good Oil.

MAY START EARLY NEXT WEEK

The Required Capital Has Almost All Been Raised, and the Principals in the Company Believe They Have a Good Thing—Two Wells Will Be Drilled.

A company made up of farmers living north of the city expect to find wealth below the surface of their various farms, and unless there is a hitch in their arrangements the drill will be set going next week.

The company is made up of John McDonald, Charles McPerson, John Nisron, John Dickey, Eden McPherson, Frank Billingsley, John Hickman and other prominent farmers whose land lies north of the city in St. Clair and Liverpool townships. They have formed a company, and expect by next week to begin operations. The concern will be known as E. L. McCoy & Co., that gentleman being at the head of the movement. One well will be drilled at once, and at least one more in another part of the territory. The company will be regularly chartered. One thousand five hundred acres of land have already been leased, and it is probable more will be added soon.

M'NUTT-MOUNTFORD.

A Pleasant Home Wedding With an Incident.

Mr. Frank McNutt and Miss Sarah Mountford were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mountford, in Second street. It was a pretty home wedding, the party consisting of the families of the contracting parties and a few close friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Huston, D. D. Amid heartiest congratulations the happy young couple led the way to the dining room where a sumptuous dinner was served. They were later driven to their cosy home in Prospect street. They are widely known, and have many friends to wish them a pleasant journey through life.

An amusing incident marked the proceedings. The Rev. Dr. John Lloyd Lee, pastor of the church with which the bride and groom are connected, had been invited to perform the ceremony, but was compelled to go to Winona. He wired his brother, Rev. William P. Lee, who came at once from Philadelphia, reaching here last evening. Then it was found that residing in Pennsylvania he could not solemnize a marriage in Ohio. The incident was closed when Doctor Huston was called.

A Swell Parade.

Hi Henry will present his new, up-to-date minstrel attraction at the opera house on Monday, May 20, and if glowing endorsement from the best journals of the leading cities go for anything, this attraction is among the foremost in its line. A long, varied program of newest novelties introduces the best brightlights of minstrelsy. Their swell tally-ho parade and military band of 25 pieces are said to eclipse anything yet offered in the minstrel line.

On the River.

The river is falling rapidly, but low water for a short time will be no serious inconvenience to the river and coal men. Coal men are not anxious to make any more heavy shipments until the Monongahela is free.

Stage at this port, ten feet two inches. Passed down—Kanawha, Joseph Cook, Dick Fulton, J. C. Risher. Passed up—Hudson.

Kicked by a Horse.

While bringing a horse owned by Harrison Rinehart off the Kanawha last night, Wharfmaster Pilgrim was kicked by the animal on the left leg below the knee. For a time it was thought the leg was broken, but after a careful examination it was found no bones were broken.

NOTICE.

All Members of Riddle lodge No. 315, F. and A. M., are requested to meet in the lodge room Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp, to attend the funeral of our late brother, Dr. J. J. Ikirt. By order

JOHN STAMM, W. M.

A Merry Party.

The following people left for Charleston, W. Va., on the Kanawha last evening: Colonel and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. William Brunt. They will spend about three weeks in that city.

RIDING ON A STORM.

A BOAT THAT RODE RIGHT UP THE DOWNPOURING RAIN.

Unexpected Turn of a Discussion on Airships—To Win in an Argument One Needs Only to Master His Conscience and Think in a Hurry.

"I don't believe there is any such thing as an airship!" exclaimed the man who had his chair tilted back against the side of the hotel and who was allowing cigar ashes to drop on his vest.

"But people have seen it," expostulated the man who wears long red side whiskers on his head and spats on his feet.

The other members of the Curbstone club drew their chairs up closer and looked interested.

"Which simply goes to show," was the reply, "that we are living in an era of adulteration. Nobody ever saw things like that before they got to making chemical laboratories take the place of distilleries. What do we want with an airship anyhow?"

"Scientists say it's bound to come," ventured the proprietor of a white vest and a plaited shirt bosom.

"Of course scientists tell us it's coming. Scientists have families to support, the same as other people, and it's their business to keep public confidence up. And I don't deny that the airship may be coming some time. But it won't get here till conditions demand it. What could you do with an airship that can't be accomplished just as well with a trolley car or a steamship or a bicycle?"

Some drops of rain gave warning of a storm, and when the party had got settled in the smoking room the skeptic resumed:

"Supposing they do fix up an arrangement to take you up in the air. What is there to do except to come down again? Of course you can go from place to place, but a straight line is the shortest distance between two points, and what's the use of taking the extra trouble of traveling on a curve through the atmosphere? If there were some way of anchoring a cloud and starting a roof garden on it, I'd say, 'Go ahead and have the airship, by all means.' There'd be money in it."

"But," ventured he of the plaited shirt front, "it would be a nice way to travel, plenty of fresh air and room, you know."

The storm had increased outside until its noise attracted general attention. The man with side whiskers went to the door and exclaimed:

"I guess this is the worst we ever had in this part of the country."

"It might be that and still not amount to much," contemptuously responded the wearer of the ash sprinkled vest. "It's coming down in drops so far apart that you can see between them."

"They're pretty big drops, though."

"Pshaw! Compared to the real thing, this shower is nothing but a leak in a wash boiler. By the way, somebody was claiming that airship travel would be commodious and comfortable and all that sort of thing."

"I said that," came the rather timid confession.

"Did you ever try a voyage at a great altitude?"

"No."

"I thought not. If you had, you wouldn't make any such assertion."

"A number of years ago I went with a friend for a trip on Lake Erie. That's the place for storms. His boat was a small screw propeller and one of the swiftest affairs ever built. We saw a storm coming, and, in spite of our efforts to run away from it, it overtook us. Talk about rain! What we encountered there was a perpendicular river. My friend staid on deck to see that we didn't run into anything, and I, of course, stood by him. In a few minutes I realized that if something wasn't done we'd drown right in our tracks. I waited my opportunity, and presently, when a big wave came along and tilted the boat up so that the deck stood at an angle of about 45 degrees, I turned the engine loose for all there was in it. I glanced at my friend. He was white as a sheet, but he grasped my hand in token of his approval of what I was doing. It was a desperate chance, but it turned out as I had hoped. The boat began to rise steadily and swiftly on a slant. It was a time of horrible suspense, for we didn't know what minute the craft might strike a thin spot in the storm that the paddle wheels wouldn't take hold of. But we got safely to the top and both sank to the deck in utter exhaustion. When we recovered sufficiently, we took a survey of our surroundings, and I give you my word I never experienced anything more dreary than the impression made by the tremendous expanse of vacancy which met our gaze on all sides. After a few hours of it I would have given a fortune for the sight of a few telegraph poles or the sound of a train boy peddling oranges."

"How did you get down?" asked one of the group.

"We didn't bother about that. After playing seven up till we got tired of the game we turned in, and when we awakened it was broad daylight. We found that as the storm subsided we had sunk gently until we were drifting in sunshine and safety on the broad, placid bosom of Lake Erie."

"And you say you don't believe in any such thing as an airship?" queried the man with the white vest quietly.

"Of course not. And what I have just told you goes to show that it would be a lonesome and undesirable institution if we had one."

"Maybe it does," was the reply. "Maybe it does. Anyhow, it has impressed one great lesson that I shall never forget. And that is that there is no need of a man's getting the worst of any argument if he can only get the upper hand of his conscience and think in a hurry."—Washington Star

An Imperial Catechism.

Sometimes it is inconvenient not to be able to use quotation marks in speech as they are used in print. A German soldier of the First regiment of the Royal Prussian guards found this fact out not long ago.

The Emperor William is the honorary captain of the first company of this regiment and takes especial pride in it. He was lately engaged in putting its soldiers through an examination to test their military knowledge and experience.

"What would you do," he said to one soldier, "if, when on duty as a sentinel, you saw a crowd gather near you?"

"I should politely request the people to disperse, your majesty."

"Good! But if one of the men in the crowd approached you and sought to worry you?"

"I should say to him, 'Don't worry me, your majesty.'"

The whole of this remark seemed so obviously addressed to one person—either to the supposed man in the crowd or to the emperor—that the emperor burst into a laugh and said, "Very well, my man. I'll disperse and will not worry you any more."—Youth's Companion.

The Laugh on Jowett.

Once when Professor Jowett was visiting his friend and pupil, Professor Sellar, he declared that he never gave to beggars. Mrs. Sellar was an adept in "mystifications," an accomplishment popular in Scotch society since Sir Walter Scott's time. She disguised herself as a poor highland woman and waylaid her husband and Jowett at a crossroad, begging importunately and telling her tale of woe so piteously that Jowett at last said: "Poor thing! She seems very miserable. Give her half a crown." Sellar said he had no money with him, and before the alms were forthcoming the secret was triumphantly unveiled.

Woman's Work in India.

Dr. Harriet E. Parker of Putney, Vt. is in charge of the Women's hospital in Madura, south India. Last year there were 18,000 cases treated in the hospital. So much more additional room is needed a large and really well appointed building is now in process of erection just across the street from the present structure. The women's board of missions in Boston has done a great deal for the hospital, and the amount of relief given the native Indian women is almost incalculable. A "Bible woman" reads regularly to the patients, and religious services are conducted every day. Leprous patients are treated in large numbers.

PREPARING TO DRILL

Farmers Believe They Will Strike Good Oil.

MAY START EARLY NEXT WEEK

The Required Capital Has Almost All Been Raised, and the Principals in the Company Believe They Have a Good Thing—Two Wells Will Be Drilled.

A company made up of farmers living north of the city expect to find wealth below the surface of their various farms, and unless there is a hitch in their arrangements the drill will be set going next week.

The company is made up of John McDonald, Charles McPerson, John Nisron, John Dickey, Eden McPherson, Frank Billingsley, John Hickman and other prominent farmers whose land lies north of the city in St. Clair and Liverpool townships. They have formed a company, and expect by next week to begin operations. The concern will be known as E. L. McCoy & Co., that gentleman being at the head of the movement. One well will be drilled at once, and at least one more in another part of the territory. The company will be regularly chartered. One thousand five hundred acres of land have already been leased, and it is probable more will be added soon.

M'NUTT-MOUNTFORD.

A Pleasant Home Wedding With an Incident.

Mr. Frank McNutt and Miss Sarah Mountford were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mountford, in Second street. It was a pretty home wedding, the party consisting of the families of the contracting parties and a few close friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Huston, D. D. Amid heartiest congratulations the happy young couple led the way to the dining room where a sumptuous dinner was served. They were later driven to their cosy home in Prospect street. They are widely known, and have many friends to wish them a pleasant journey through life.

An amusing incident marked the proceedings. The Rev. Dr. John Lloyd Lee, pastor of the church with which the bride and groom are connected, had been invited to perform the ceremony, but was compelled to go to Winona. He wired his brother, Rev. William P. Lee, who came at once from Philadelphia, reaching here last evening. Then it was found that residing in Pennsylvania he could not solemnize a marriage in Ohio. The incident was closed when Doctor Huston was called.

Their swell tally-ho parade and military band of 25 pieces are said to eclipse anything yet offered in the minstrel line.

RIDING ON A STORM.

A BOAT THAT RODE RIGHT UP THE DOWNPOURING RAIN.

Unexpected Turn of a Discussion on Airships—To Win in an Argument One Needs Only to Master His Conscience and Think in a Hurry.

"I don't believe there is any such thing as an airship!" exclaimed the man who had his chair tilted back against the side of the hotel and who was allowing cigar ashes to drop on his vest.

"But people have seen it," expostulated the man who wears long red side whiskers on his head and spats on his feet.

The other members of the Curbstone club drew their chairs up closer and looked interested.

"Which simply goes to show," was the reply, "that we are living in an era of adulteration. Nobody ever saw things like that before they got to making chemical laboratories take the place of distilleries. What do we want with an airship anyhow?"

"Scientists say it's bound to come," ventured the proprietor of a white vest and a plaited shirt bosom.

"Of course scientists tell us it's coming. Scientists have families to support, the same as other people, and it's their business to keep public confidence up. And I don't deny that the airship may be coming some time. But it won't get here till conditions demand it. What could you do with an airship that can't be accomplished just as well with a trolley car or a steamship or a bicycle?"

Some drops of rain gave warning of a storm, and when the party had got settled in the smoking room the skeptic resumed:

"Supposing they do fix up an arrangement to take you up in the air. What is there to do except to come down again? Of course you can go from place to place, but a straight line is the shortest distance between two points, and what's the use of taking the extra trouble of traveling on a curve through the atmosphere? If there were some way of anchoring a cloud and starting a roof garden on it, I'd say, 'Go ahead and have the airship, by all means.' There'd be money in it."

"But," ventured he of the plaited shirt front, "it would be a nice way to travel, plenty of fresh air and room, you know."

The storm had increased outside until its noise attracted general attention. The man with side whiskers went to the door and exclaimed:

"I guess this is the worst we ever had in this part of the country."

"It might be that and still not amount to much," contemptuously responded the wearer of the ash sprinkled vest. "It's coming down in drops so far apart that you can see between them."

"They're pretty big drops, though."

"Pshaw! Compared to the real thing, this shower is nothing but a leak in a wash boiler. By the way, somebody was claiming that airship travel would be commodious and comfortable and all that sort of thing."

"I said that," came the rather timid confession.

"Did you ever try a voyage at a great altitude?"

"No."

"I thought not. If you had, you wouldn't make any such assertion."

"A number of years ago I went with a friend for a trip on Lake Erie. That's the place for storms. His boat was a small screw propeller and one of the swiftest affairs ever built. We saw a storm coming, and, in spite of our efforts to run away from it, it overtook us. Talk about rain! What we encountered there was a perpendicular river. My friend staid on deck to see that we didn't run into anything, and I, of course, stood by him. In a few minutes I realized that if something wasn't done we'd drown right in our tracks. I waited my opportunity, and presently, when a big wave came along and tilted the boat up so that the deck stood at an angle of about 45 degrees, I turned the engine loose for all there was in it. I glanced at my friend. He was white as a sheet, but he grasped my hand in token of his approval of what I was doing. It was a desperate chance, but it turned out as I had hoped. The boat began to rise steadily and swiftly on a slant. It was a time of horrible suspense, for we didn't know what minute the craft might strike a thin spot in the storm that the paddle wheels wouldn't take hold of. But we got safely to the top and both sank to the deck in utter exhaustion. When we recovered sufficiently, we took a survey of our surroundings, and I give you my word I never experienced anything more dreary than the impression made by the tremendous expanse of vacancy which met our gaze on all sides. After a few hours of it I would have given a fortune for the sight of a few telegraph poles or the sound of a train boy peddling oranges."

"How did you get down?" asked one of the group.

"We didn't bother about that. After playing seven up till we got tired of the game we turned in, and when we awakened it was broad daylight. We found that as the storm subsided we had sunk gently until we were drifting in sunshine and safety on the broad, placid bosom of Lake Erie."

"And you say you don't believe in any such thing as an airship?" queried the man with the white vest quietly.

"Of course not. And what I have just told you goes to show that it would be a lonesome and undesirable institution if we had one."

"Maybe it does," was the reply. "Maybe it does. Anyhow, it has impressed one great lesson that I shall never forget. And that is that there is no need of a man's getting the worst of any argument if he can only get the upper hand of his conscience and think in a hurry."—Washington Star

An Imperial Catechiser.

Sometimes it is inconvenient not to be able to use quotation marks in speech as they are used in print. A German soldier of the First regiment of the Royal Prussian guards found this fact out not long ago.

The Emperor William is the honorary captain of the first company of this regiment and takes especial pride in it. He was lately engaged in putting its soldiers through an examination to test their military knowledge and experience.

"What would you do," he said to one soldier, "if, when on duty as a sentinel, you saw a crowd gather near you?"

"I should politely request the people to disperse, your majesty."

"Good! But if one of the men in the crowd approached you and sought to worry you?"

"I should say to him, 'Don't worry me, your majesty.'"

The whole of this remark seemed so obviously addressed to one person—either to the supposed man in the crowd or to the emperor—that the emperor burst into a laugh and said, "Very well, my man. I'll disperse and will not worry you any more."—Youth's Companion.

TOO WEAK TO GOVERN

Cubans Are Not Capable of Caring For Themselves.

STRANGE THINGS WOULD HAPPEN

If They Ever Gained Control of the Island—How the Three Friends Makes Money For Its Owners—The View of a Man Who Knows Well the Situation.

"Strange things would come to pass in Cuba if the Cubans ever succeed in gaining their liberty. I think their success would mean an exodus of negroes from the south."

The words were spoken by S. P. Carns, a Jefferson county man who has lived for a long time in Florida, and was yesterday the guest of friends in this city and Wellsville. The gentleman is thoroughly conversant with the Cuban situation, and talked entertainingly. Continuing he said:

"It is my candid opinion that should Cuba succeed in the war and gain her independence the men who are fighting so well would be unable to manage their own affairs. My sympathies, like those of the whole of Florida, are with Cuba, but I think I can safely say that in this view all my friends in the south will concur. The Cubans are not full blooded Spaniards, nor are they negroes. Maceo, their most famous general, was of this blood. Should they obtain their freedom the negroes of the south would flock by the thousand to the island. They would not be long in obtaining complete control of the government, and complications would result, for negroes in the south have not attained the intelligence of their race in the north.

"Perhaps the most interesting phase of this whole war is the manner in which the Cubans obtain their supplies from this country. The steamer Three Friends I saw built. It was intended for river traffic, and is good for 23 knots an hour any day. When it was put in the Cuban trade, as they sometimes call it, much of its upper works were taken off. Its owners receive $5,000 a trip, and I have heard on good authority that it has made $60,000 since the first one. The boat is successful because it draws so little water that it can easily navigate within the three mile limit, and go where Spanish gunboats dare not follow. When on one of its numerous trips the Friends was painted all over and the words "The Ox" in big letters decorated the starboard. In this disguise it passed the Spanish cruisers outside the three mile limit, and they allowed the boat, for the capture of which Spain would give a fortune, to pass under their very noses. By similar tricks it manages to evade Uncle Sam's big ships, and in that you have the secret of its success. The Cubans are devoted to their cause, and are brave men. They have sympathizers by the hundred in Florida."

Mr. Carns has gone to Cleveland where he will spend a few days before returning to Florida.

A SPRING GROVE PHONE.

A Movement on Foot to Build a Line.

Spring Grove residents have already commenced to talk of having a telephone placed on the grounds. It is badly needed, and would undoubtedly add a great deal to the enjoyment of the residents. A subscription paper will be started in the near future, and if enough subscribers can be secured an instrument will be placed in the grounds. The idea is to have a telephone placed in the dormitory for the exclusive use of subscribers, and to make all others pay the regular telephone fee.

A LONG WALK.

Will Davis Thought His Bicycle Was Good.

Will Davis last night had a pleasant walk of eight miles over country roads. Yesterday morning he rode his wheel to East Palestine, and on the return trip when eight miles from home he struck a rut and a rim broke. Shouldering his wheel he started for home, arriving here late at night, a weary and footsore boy.

SQUARED ACCOUNTS.

HOW DE SMITH TURNED SEVERAL TABLES ON HIS FRIEND JONES.

Started In With a Shower Bath, Followed With Several Other Annoying Pleasantries and Wound Up With a Grand Onslaught of Life Insurance Agents.

"Well, I guess I've got even with Jones all right enough for all the practical jokes he has been playing on me for the last week," said De Smith gleefully, as he hung up his coat and took his seat at the luncheon table with a party of friends.

"How's that?" asked one of the friends.

"Well, Jones is a great joker, you know," explained De Smith. "He thinks it's a good thing to thump and pound like the dence on a fellow's door as he goes down the hotel corridor about 2 o'clock in the morning. He never goes to bed when a decent man should, and he rather resents it if any of his friends do. He has been pounding on my door that way now almost every morning for the past week."

"Why didn't you get up and kick him?" asked one of the party.

"I did try to three or four times," replied De Smith, "but he always got down the hall a little way and then laughed at me. But I'm even with him now. I was fixed for him when he came along this morning. I had a big pail of water fixed over the transom, and when old Jones came along and began thumping I pulled the string fastened to it, and I heard old Jonesie curse under his breath and mutter, 'Damn you, De Smith, I'll get even for this.' Then he walked down the hall and I looked out in time to see him shaking the water off his coat and hat."

"That was getting even pretty well, old man. I wish I could have seen him when the flood struck him," put in one of the party.

"Oh, that was all right for a starter," said De Smith, "but it wasn't half the dose I gave him after. You see, Jones has been breaking my sleep for a week, and it took more than a bucket of water to square accounts. I anticipated his visit of this morning, so last night before going to bed I left an order to call him at 6 o'clock. Old Jonesie didn't get to bed before 3 o'clock, so he didn't get much sleep before 6. Then a bell boy began to pound on his door and shout that it was time to get up. Jones shouted back to the boy to get out or he'd break his neck, but the boy replied that he had orders to get Jones out of bed and he was going to do it. Finally Jones got up in his rage and hustled down to the hotel office to find out 'what in thunder they meant by breaking his sleep that way.' The clerk told him there was an order for a call at 6 o'clock, and that was all he knew about it.

"Well, Jonesie went back to bed, but he didn't get to sleep again. I paid the bell boy enough to prevent that, and at 9 o'clock he came down to breakfast. I was down town by that time, so I rang Jonesie up on the telephone. My office boy got him on the wire and told him to wait just a moment, please. Well, Jonesie waited about five minutes and then gave the bell a vicious ring. The boy answered the ring and asked Jonesie what he wanted. 'I want to know who rang me up,' said Jonesie. 'Nobody here,' said the boy, and he said he heard Jonesie swear as he rang off.

"Well, I gave him that telephone racket three times before he caught on. He was pretty hot, I guess, when he reached his office, but I had a reception for him there. I had telephoned to a lot of my life insurance friends that Jonesie wanted to take out a policy before leaving the city in the afternoon and advised them to send a man around to see him. There were two in the office when he reached it, and five more came in during the morning.

"Jones thought he was going to do a lot of work, too, but as a matter of fact he spent the day explaining that he didn't want any life insurance or anything else but a chance to tend to his own business. One of the agents finally let it out that I had recommended Jones as a good risk, and he rang me up at once. 'I've got enough,' he says. 'I'm willing to call it all square if you are. You've got the best of it, I admit,' he quailed, so I told him I was willing to call it off if he would remember not to hammer on my door hereafter when he was going by at 3 in the morning. He replied that he wouldn't rap at my door again if the hotel was afire, and so we called it off.

"Jones has beaten me out of a whole lot of sleep of late, but I guess I'm even, fellows. What do you think?" And De Smith leaned back in his chair and looked at himself admiringly in the mirror across the room. —Chicago Times-Herald.

The Harvard Spirit.

Where so many men are working on independent lines, with so much to keep them apart and so little comparative-ly, to draw them together, one may reasonably wonder whether such a thing as a common Harvard spirit any longer exists. It does exist, so men say who abide by the university and who ought to know. They see it and feel it. It does not penetrate all individuals in the same degree, but it is reckoned with and observed as a definite force. The men best qualified to judge of it insist that it makes for veracity, for a high sense of honor and for good manners.

Indifference has sometimes been charged against Harvard, and perhaps not without some basis, but not indifference to truth. That is her quest in science and in philosophy and the basis of her law in matters of conduct. Veritas was not written on the Harvard shield for nothing. The Harvard spirit may need to be awakened and nourished and kept alive, but it is worth keeping alive, for truth is its most pervasive element.—Edward S. Martin in Scribner's.

Free Medical Advice.

A good story has been told by a family doctor regarding a little ruse adopted by one of his patients who wished to save the expense of consulting him.

The patient was a woman of good means, but of frugal disposition. One day she began to feel some alarm regarding her health, and, wishing to avoid a costly procedure, made an application to a life insurance company for a policy of large amount—so large, indeed, that they delegated three medical men to make an exhaustive examination of her before they could accept her as a risk.

In due time she was informed that her life had been accepted. She was thus in a position to assume that she was quite well, whereupon she replied to the company that she had changed her mind, and did not intend to take out a policy just then.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Science of the Morning Fast.

Dr. E. H. Dewey says that the heavy morning breakfast which is universal in America is all a mistake. The hunger one feels is abnormal and is simply the acquired result of a lifelong untimely meal. More than this, it is often disease undergoing evolution, and many complaints are cured simply by not taking anything beyond a small cup of tea or coffee, and sometimes not even that, until 11 or 12 o'clock. The experience of hundreds of persons proves that even the severest manual labor can be performed for several hours "on an empty stomach" and with more ease, energy and satisfaction than ever is possible after an early morning meal, and that it can be done even up to high noon without unusual exhaustion or inconvenience from the pangs of hunger. A great many people are now giving this matter a prolonged test, and the wisdom of the method is clearly supported by physiological evidence.—Exchange.

Man's Most Vulgar Habit.

"If men were compelled to wear skirts for a period, I think they would insist more than they now do that their fellow men should stop the nasty habit of spitting in public," writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "There is no practice of man which is more distressing to women than this disgusting habit. Women constantly complain of it, especially in our larger cities, where sometimes the sidewalks are scarcely fit for them to walk upon. They revolt at the practice, and they are right in so doing, yet year in and year out the habit not only continues but increases, and the protection of cleanliness, to which every woman walking upon our streets has a perfect right, is denied her."

Thrifty to the Last.

An old Lancashire miller, noted for his keenness in matters financial, was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill. The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land, while, farther on, misfortune still further overtook him, to the extent that the boat got upset. His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice, when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out, "If I'm drowned, Molly, dunnot forget that flour's gone up 2 shillin a sack."—London Globe

Rich Men and Debt.

The late Judge Asa Packer believed that a rich man ought to be in debt, because it helped him maintain his credit. "Were I," said he, "to wipe out my indebtedness and at some future time see an opportunity to make a large sum of money and attempt to borrow, everybody would marvel and say Judge Packer was borrowing money. As it is I can borrow almost any amount and no questions are asked or comments made."

Full.

"I have called," said the confident young man with manuscript sticking out of his pocket, "to see whether there is a vacancy in this office."

"No," replied the melancholy editor, as he looked around the place, "I'm sorry to say there is none. Even the waste paper basket is full."—London Answers.

Point lace work, which was so fashionable last season, and still is so, finds a strong rival in honiton work. The honiton pattern is worked on the linen as a border, and the material is afterward cut away.

In France women are held in such subjection to men that before one is permitted to join the Bicycle Touring club the consent of her father or husband must be obtained.

A Pretty Resort.

A sojourn at Winona Assembly Grounds at Eagle Lake, Ind., near Warsaw, on the Fort Wayne route, will prove a pleasant summer outing. This delightful resort is the site of the youngest of the Chautauqua assemblies, and its attractions combine facilities for recreation, entertainment, instruction and devotion.

Eagle Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, surrounded by several hundred acres of romantic woodland which covers one stretch of nearly two miles. The lake affords opportunity for aquatic pastimes, the boating, bathing and fishing being excellent. In addition to numerous row-boats there are several pleasure steamers on the lake.

The shady grounds are occupied by many pretty cottages and summer homes of persons who annually enjoy the beauties of the place, strengthening body in the invigorating atmosphere and enriching the mind by the special advantages the summer school offers.

A fine park has been laid out on the shore of the lake. A large auditorium, amphitheatre, college halls, hotels and restaurant have also been constructed on the grounds for the accommodation of visitors. There is also a race track and space set aside for out-door athletic sports.

In addition to the Presbyterian General Assembly which will be in session on the Assembly Grounds from May 20 to June 2, a number of other large meetings will be held on the grounds during the summer of 1897, including the Indiana State Sunday School Convention, Western Association of Writers, Indiana State W. C. T. U., Indiana Y. M. C. A., Encampment, National Medical Society, Boys' Brigade, and Indiana State Christian Endeavor Convention.

Excursion tickets to Eagle Lake will be on sale via Pennsylvania Lines during the summer season. Details regarding rates, time of trains, etc., may be ascertained by addressing the nearest passenger or ticket agent of the Pennsylvania lines, or by applying to F. Van Dusen, chief assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa. Full information concerning the Assembly and Summer School, cost of entertainment, etc., may be secured upon application to Secretary S. C. Dickey, Eagle Lake, Ind.

New Entrance to New York.

All are convenient locations; Cortlandt street and Desbrosses street, in the downtown district, and Twenty-third street in the uptown district. The latter entrance will be formally opened May 16, when two new, commodious ferryboats, double-deckers, constructed especially for the Pennsylvania lines and furnished and fitted in up-to-date style, will be placed in service between the Jersey City station and Twenty-third street, connecting with all inbound and outbound trains over the Pennsylvania system, the same as the boats running between that station and Cortlandt street and Desbrosses street, which will also continue in the service.

The Pennsylvania lines' three entrances into New York enable passengers to quickly reach the business portion in the lower end of the city, as well as the hotels and business blocks in the very heart of the great metropolis. The ride across the river is a delightful and refreshing termination to an enjoyable trip. All through trains from the west, over the Pennsylvania lines, land passengers in New York between 9:30 a. m., and 9:30 p. m., treating them to a grand view of the city's water front; its extensive docks where at almost any time may be seen ships of many nations. The wonderful panorama gives visitors a slight idea of the magnitude of New York. The new Twenty-third street ferry line is particularly noteworthy in this respect.

Summer Outing.

The principal places of summer sojourn along the Atlantic ocean in the Alleghenies, the Adirondacks, Catskills, and mountains of the east, and in the lake region and Northern Michigan and the northwest, may be readily reached over the Pennsylvania lines.

Special information regarding the leading resorts and the advantages enjoyed in journeying to them over the Pennsylvania route has been compiled and printed in convenient form. The matter is profusely illustrated with photographic reproductions of seashore scenes and includes views at Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch and other resorts along the Atlantic coast; also of Cresson, Bedford Springs, and romantic mountain retreats, and of Petoskey, Mackinac, and the summer havens in Michigan and the northwest.

Persons contemplating summer outing trips will find it a valuable guide in shaping preliminaries. Copies may be obtained by addressing D. C. MacWaters, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

A. W. SCOTT, Architect.

To my patrons, and those contemplating building, permit me to state: I have made plans and constructed the building for more than three times the number of any other one Architect in this city, and in each case devoted careful study that I might not cause you to expend one dollar where it was not required, and yet give you a building free from cracked or settled walls, both interior and exterior, free from unsightly cast iron plates on the side of your building, or cumbersome "hog chains" extending down in your finish'd rooms to support a roof, as some are in this city, constructed by those professing to know better. I guarantee you a saving in each building of many times what the plans cost you, and the most substantial of structures. We profit by other people's mistakes. We study. We are progressive. We put strength where it belongs. It was the unlearned and illiterate Egyptians who constructed their buildings with 9 to 14 foot thick walls, regardless of size of building, because their forefathers did the same. Science has taught practical architects that necessity demands lighter and better buildings. We are up to date on any style building you want. Make up blue print copies of your plans. Type written specifications. Duplicate or triplicate copies when desired. Make up neat sketches of all contemplated building, free of charge, as all first class architects do. We charge you a reasonable compensation for our work, which we allow you to determine, while with some "half a loaf is better than none." Beware of the man who proposes to make your plans for nothing. Somebody's going to pay dear for them in the end. We are too busy to announce all the leading points on this subject. We are completing the 23d contract for plans since January, '97. Call and see me.

TOO WEAK TO GOVERN

Cubans Are Not Capable of Caring For Themselves.

STRANGE THINGS WOULD HAPPEN

If They Ever Gained Control of the Island—How the Three Friends Makes Money For Its Owners—The View of a Man Who Knows Well the Situation.

"Strange things would come to pass in Cuba if the Cubans ever succeed in gaining their liberty. I think their success would mean an exodus of negroes from the south."

The words were spoken by S. P. Carnas, a Jefferson county man who has lived for a long time in Florida, and was yesterday the guest of friends in this city and Wellsville. The gentleman is thoroughly conversant with the Cuban situation, and talked entertainingly. Continuing he said:

"It is my candid opinion that should Cuba succeed in the war and gain her independence the men who are fighting so well would be unable to manage their own affairs. My sympathies, like those of the whole of Florida, are with Cuba, but I think I can safely say that in this view all my friends in the south will concur. The Cubans are not full blooded Spaniards, nor are they negroes. Maceo, their most famous general, was of this blood. Should they obtain their freedom the negroes of the south would flock by the thousand to the island. They would not be long in obtaining complete control of the government, and complications would result, for negroes in the south have not attained the intelligence of their race in the north.

"Perhaps the most interesting phase of this whole war is the manner in which the Cubans obtain their supplies from this country. The steamer Three Friends I saw built. It was intended for river traffic, and is good for 23 knots an hour any day. When it was put in the Cuban trade, as they sometimes call it, much of its upper works were taken off. Its owners receive $5,000 a trip, and I have heard on good authority that it has made $60,000 since the first one. The boat is successful because it draws so little water that it can easily navigate within the three mile limit, and go where Spanish gunboats dare not follow. When on one of its numerous trips the Friends was painted all over and the words "The Ox" in big letters decorated the starboard. In this disguise it passed the Spanish cruisers outside the three mile limit, and they allowed the boat, for the capture of which Spain would give a fortune, to pass under their very noses. By similar tricks it manages to evade Uncle Sam's big ships, and in that you have the secret of its success. The Cubans are devoted to their cause, and are brave men. They have sympathizers by the hundred in Florida."

Mr. Carnas has gone to Cleveland where he will spend a few days before returning to Florida.

A SPRING GROVE PHONE.

A Movement on Foot to Build a Line.

Spring Grove residents have already commenced to talk of having a telephone placed on the grounds. It is badly needed, and would undoubtedly add a great deal to the enjoyment of the residents. A subscription paper will be started in the near future, and if enough subscribers can be secured an instrument will be placed in the grounds. The idea is to have a telephone placed in the dormitory for the exclusive use of subscribers, and to make all others pay the regular telephone fee.

A LONG WALK.

Will Davis Thought His Bicycle Was Good.

Will Davis last night had a pleasant walk of eight miles over country roads. Yesterday morning he rode his wheel to East Palestine, and on the return trip when eight miles from home he struck a rut and a rim broke. Shouldering his wheel he started for home, arriving here late at night, a weary and footsore boy.

SQUARED ACCOUNTS.

HOW DE SMITH TURNED SEVERAL TABLES ON HIS FRIEND JONES.

Started In With a Shower Bath, Followed With Several Other Annoying Pleasantries and Wound Up With a Grand Onslaught of Life Insurance Agents.

"Well, I guess I've got even with Jones all right enough for all the practical jokes he has been playing on me for the last week," said De Smith gleefully, as he hung up his coat and took his seat at the luncheon table with a party of friends.

"How's that?" asked one of the friends.

"Well, Jones is a great joker, you know," explained De Smith. "He thinks it's a good thing to thump and pound like the dence on a fellow's door as he goes down the hotel corridor about 2 o'clock in the morning. He never goes to bed when a decent man should, and he rather resents it if any of his friends do. He has been pounding on my door that way now almost every morning for the past week."

"Why didn't you get up and kick him?" asked one of the party.

"I did try to three or four times," replied De Smith, "but he always got down the hall a little way and then laughed at me. But I'm even with him now. I was fixed for him when he came along this morning. I had a big pail of water fixed over the transom, and when old Jones came along and began thumping I pulled the string fastened to it, and I heard old Jonesie curse under his breath and mutter, 'Darn you, De Smith, I'll get even for this.' Then he walked down the hall and I looked out in time to see him shaking the water off his coat and hat."

"That was getting even pretty well, old man. I wish I could have seen him when the flood struck him," put in one of the party.

"Oh, that was all right for a starter," said De Smith, "but it wasn't half the dose I gave him after. You see, Jones has been breaking my sleep for a week, and it took more than a bucket of water to square accounts. I anticipated his visit of this morning, so last night before going to bed I left an order to call him at 6 o'clock. Old Jonesie didn't get to bed before 3 o'clock, so he didn't get much sleep before 6. Then a bell boy began to pound on his door and shout that it was time to get up. Jones shouted back to the boy to get out or he'd break his neck, but the boy replied that he had orders to get Jones out of bed and he was going to do it. Finally Jones got up in his rage and hustled down to the hotel office to find out 'what in thunder they meant by breaking his sleep that way.' The clerk told him there was an order for a call at 6 o'clock, and that was all he knew about it.

"Well, Jonesie went back to bed, but he didn't get to sleep again. I paid the bell boy enough to prevent that, and at 9 o'clock he came down to breakfast. I was down town by that time, so I rang Jonesie up on the telephone. My office boy got him on the wire and told him to wait just a moment, please. Well, Jonesie waited about five minutes and then gave the bell a vicious ring. The boy answered the ring and asked Jonesie what he wanted. 'I want to know who rang me up,' said Jonesie. 'Nobody here,' said the boy, and he said he heard Jonesie swear as he rang off.

"Well, I gave him that telephone racket three times before he caught on. He was pretty hot, I guess, when he reached his office, but I had a reception for him there. I had telephoned to a lot of my life insurance friends that Jonesie wanted to take out a policy before leaving the city in the afternoon and advised them to send a man around to see him. There were two in the office when he reached it, and five more came in during the morning.

"Jones thought he was going to do a lot of work, too, but as a matter of fact he spent the day explaining that he didn't want any life insurance or anything else but a chance to tend to his own business. One of the agents finally let it out that I had recommended Jones as a good risk, and he rang me up at once. 'I've got enough,' he says. 'I'm willing to call it all square if you are. You've got the best of it, I admit,' he quailed, so I told him I was willing to call it off if he would remember not to hammer on my door hereafter when he was going by at 3 in the morning. He replied that he wouldn't rap at my door again if the hotel was afire, and so we called it off.

"Jones has beaten me out of a whole lot of sleep of late, but I guess I'm even, fellows. What do you think?" And De Smith leaned back in his chair and looked at himself admiringly in the mirror across the room. —Chicago Times-Herald.

The Harvard Spirit.

Where so many men are working on independent lines, with so much to keep them apart and so little comparative, to draw them together, one may reasonably wonder whether such a thing as a common Harvard spirit any longer exists. It does exist, so men say who abide by the university and who ought to know. They see it and feel it. It does not penetrate all individuals in the same degree, but it is reckoned with and observed as a definite force. The men best qualified to judge of it insist that it makes for veracity, for a high sense of honor and for good manners.

Indifference has sometimes been charged against Harvard, and perhaps not without some basis, but not indifference to truth. That is her quest in science and in philosophy and the basis of her law in matters of conduct. Veritas was not written on the Harvard shield for nothing. The Harvard spirit may need to be awakened and nourished and kept alive, but it is worth keeping alive, for truth is its most pervasive element.—Edward S. Martin in Scribner's.

Free Medical Advice.

A good story has been told by a family doctor regarding a little ruse adopted by one of his patients who wished to save the expense of consulting him.

The patient was a woman of good means, but of frugal disposition. One day she began to feel some alarm regarding her health, and, wishing to avoid a costly procedure, made an application to a life insurance company for a policy of large amount—so large, indeed, that they delegated three medical men to make an exhaustive examination of her before they could accept her as a risk.

In due time she was informed that her life had been accepted. She was thus in a position to assume that she was quite well, whereupon she replied to the company that she had changed her mind, and did not intend to take out a policy just then.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Science of the Morning Fast.

Dr. E. H. Dewey says that the heavy morning breakfast which is universal in America is all a mistake. The hunger one feels is abnormal and is simply the acquired result of a lifelong untimely meal. More than this, it is often disease undergoing evolution, and many complaints are cured simply by not taking anything beyond a small cup of tea or coffee, and sometimes not even that, until 11 or 12 o'clock. The experience of hundreds of persons proves that even the severest manual labor can be performed for several hours "on an empty stomach" and with more ease, energy and satisfaction than ever is possible after an early morning meal, and that it can be done even up to high noon without unusual exhaustion or inconvenience from the pangs of hunger. A great many people are now giving this matter a prolonged test, and the wisdom of the method is clearly supported by physiological evidence.—Exchange.

Man's Most Vulgar Habit.

"If men were compelled to wear skirts for a period, I think they would insist more than they now do that their fellow men should stop the nasty habit of spitting in public," writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "There is no practice of man which is more distressing to women than this disgusting habit. Women constantly complain of it, especially in our larger cities, where sometimes the sidewalks are scarcely fit for them to walk upon. They revolt at the practice, and they are right in so doing, yet year in and year out the habit not only continues but increases, and the protection of cleanliness, to which every woman walking upon our streets has a perfect right, is denied her."

Thrifty to the Last.

An old Lancashire miller, noted for his keenness in matters financial, was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill. The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land, while, farther on, misfortune still further overtook him, to the extent that the boat got upset. His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice, when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out, "If I'm drowned, Molly, dunnot forget that flour's gone up 2 shillin a sack."—London Globe.

Rich Men and Debt.

The late Judge Asa Packer believed that a rich man ought to be in debt, because it helped him maintain his credit. "Were I," said he, "to wipe out my indebtedness and at some future time see an opportunity to make a large sum of money and attempt to borrow, everybody would marvel and say Judge Packer was borrowing money. As it is I can borrow almost any amount and no questions are asked or comments made."

Full.

"I have called," said the confident young man with manuscript sticking out of his pocket, "to see whether there is a vacancy in this office."

"No," replied the melancholy editor, as he looked around the place, "I'm sorry to say there is none. Even the waste paper basket is full."—London Answers.

Point lace work, which was so fashionable last season, and still is so, finds a strong rival in honiton work. The honiton pattern is worked on the linen as a border, and the material is afterward cut away.

In France women are held in such subjection to men that before one is permitted to join the Bicycle Touring club the consent of her father or husband must be obtained.

A Pretty Resort.

A sojourn at Winona Assembly Grounds at Eagle Lake, Ind., near Warsaw, on the Fort Wayne route, will prove a pleasant summer outing. This delightful resort is the site of the youngest of the Chautauqua assemblies, and its attractions combine facilities for recreation, entertainment, instruction and devotion.

Eagle Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, surrounded by several hundred acres of romantic woodland which covers one stretch of nearly two miles. The lake affords opportunity for aquatic pastimes, the boating, bathing and fishing being excellent. In addition to numerous row-boats there are several pleasure steamers on the lake.

The shady grounds are occupied by many pretty cottages and summer homes of persons who annually enjoy the beauties of the place, strengthening body in the invigorating atmosphere and enriching the mind by the special advantages the summer school offers.

A fine park has been laid out on the shore of the lake. A large auditorium, amphitheatre, college halls, hotels and restaurant have also been constructed on the grounds for the accommodation of visitors. There is also a race track and space set aside for out-door athletic sports.

In addition to the Presbyterian General Assembly which will be in session on the Assembly Grounds from May 20 to June 2, a number of other large meetings will be held on the grounds during the summer of 1897, including the Indiana State Sunday School Convention, Western Association of Writers, Indiana State W. C. T. U., Indiana Y. M. C. A., Encampment, National Medical Society, Boys' Brigade, and Indiana State Christian Endeavor Convention.

Excursion tickets to Eagle Lake will be on sale via Pennsylvania Lines during the summer season. Details regarding rates, time of trains, etc., may be ascertained by addressing the nearest passenger or ticket agent of the Pennsylvania lines, or by applying to F. Van Dusen, chief assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa. Full information concerning the Assembly and Summer School, cost of entertainment, etc., may be secured upon application to Secretary S. C. Dickey, Eagle Lake, Ind.

New Entrance to New York.

All are convenient locations; Cortlandt street and Desbrosses street, in the downtown district, and Twenty-third street in the uptown district. The latter entrance will be formally opened May 16, when two new, commodious ferryboats, double-deckers, constructed especially for the Pennsylvania lines and furnished and fitted in up-to-date style, will be placed in service between the Jersey City station and Twenty-third street, connecting with all inbound and outbound trains over the Pennsylvania system, the same as the boats running between that station and Cortlandt street and Desbrosses street, which will also continue in the service.

The Pennsylvania lines' three entrances into New York enable passengers to quickly reach the business portion in the lower end of the city, as well as the hotels and business blocks in the very heart of the great metropolis. The ride across the river is a delightful and refreshing termination to an enjoyable trip. All through trains from the west, over the Pennsylvania lines, land passengers in New York between 9:30 a. m., and 9:30 p. m., treating them to a grand view of the city's water front; its extensive docks where at almost any time may be seen ships of many nations. The wonderful panorama gives visitors a slight idea of the magnitude of New York. The new Twenty-third street ferry line is particularly noteworthy in this respect.

Summer Outing.

The principal places of summer sojourn along the Atlantic ocean in the Alleghenies, the Adirondacks, Catskills, and mountains of the east, and in the lake region and Northern Michigan and the northwest, may be readily reached over the Pennsylvania lines.

Special information regarding the leading resorts and the advantages enjoyed in journeying to them over the Pennsylvania route has been compiled and printed in convenient form. The matter is profusely illustrated with photographic reproductions of seashore scenes and includes views at Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch and other resorts along the Atlantic coast; also of Cresson, Bedford Springs, and romantic mountain retreats, and of Petoskey, Mackinac, and the summer havens in Michigan and the northwest.

Persons contemplating summer outing trips will find it a valuable guide in shaping preliminaries. Copies may be obtained by addressing D. C. MacWaters, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

A. W. SCOTT, Architect.

To my patrons, and those contemplating building, permit me to state: I have made plans and constructed the building for more than three times the number of any other one Architect in this country, during my nine years practice in this city, and in each case devoted careful study that I might not cause you to expend one dollar where it was not required, and yet give you a building free from cracked or settled walls, both interior and exterior, free from unsightly cast iron plates on the side of your building, or cumbersome "hog chains" extending down in your finished rooms to support a roof, as some are in this city, constructed by those professing to know better. I guarantee you a saving in each building of many times that the plans cost you, and a most substantial of structures. We profit by other people's mistakes. We study. We are progressive. We put strength where it belongs. It was the unlearned and illiterate Egyptians who constructed their buildings with 9 to 14 foot thick walls, regardless of size of building, because their forefathers did the same. Science has taught practical architects that necessity demands practical economy. We are up to date on any style building you want. Make your blue print copies of your plans. Type written specifications. Duplicate or triplicate copies when desired. Make your neat sketches of the contemplated building, free of charge, as all first class architects do. We charge you a reasonable compensation for our work, which we allow you to determine, while with some "half a loaf is better than none." Beware of the man who proposes to make your plans for nothing. Somebody's going to pay dear for them in the end. We are too busy to announce all the leading points on this subject. Were completing the 23d contract for plans since January, '97. Call and see me.

SOLD TO MRS. PORTER

After Her Brothers, Frank and Willie Geisse,

HAD WARNED THE SALOONIST

Connor Was Taken Into Court and Found Guilty, But a Motion Was Made For a New Trial—Commissioners Have a Protest—Lisbon News.

LISBON, May 19.—[Special]—The case of the state against William Connor, a Wellsville saloonist, was tried yesterday afternoon to Judge P. C. Young and a jury, the change in the court being made because of the absence of Judge Smith. Connor was accused of having sold liquor to Mrs. Bertha Porter, whom the state succeeded in showing was an habitual. The afternoon of April 13, Frank Geisse, accompanied by his brother, William, who was murdered two weeks later, went to Connor's saloon, in Third street, in search of his sister, and found Bertha Porter and Sadie Geisse drinking with Connor and an expressman of the same name. Connor, it seems, had been notified not to sell or furnish liquor to Mrs. Porter, and the brothers at once caused his arrest.

The case went to the jury at 9 o'clock, and within 10 minutes a verdict of guilty was returned. A motion for a new trial was made by Attorney Brookes.

At 8 o'clock last night the jury to which the case of Joseph Goddard was tried came into court, and reported they were unable to agree. They had been out over seven hours, and ballot after ballot had stood ten to two for the plaintiff. The jury was discharged.

The commissioners are protesting vigorously against the practice of the Pennsylvania railway officials sending train jumpers to the county jail to be cared for at the county's expense. Last week they ordered the immediate discharge of two bums who had been in several days, and yesterday Frank Smith and I. Leverbuski were given their freedom.

Commissioner Bye said: "Some other mode of punishment must be found for a class generally without money with which to pay a fine. If we would permit it the jail would be filled with them most of the time."

The case of B. S. Ambler against William A. Hall and others was heard in court on motion of the defendants, who, with the exception of Paul Barchhoff have filed petition in error in circuit court to reverse the finding in common pleas. Last October the case, one in partition, was heard, and an order of sale issued. The court has now ordered stay of execution.

The $1500 damage case of John C. McGavern against Jacob Friestoffer, of East Liverpool, has been settled by the defendant paying him $50, out of which amount the costs are to be paid. McGavern's hand was caught in a door at the defendant's saloon.

I. B. Cameron got judgment against Lydia and Miriam French, Salem, for $201.46 and costs. It was delinquent tax.

Samuel Hayes is answering in court for not supporting his child. Hayes met his wife, Miss Sadie Boyd, at East Liverpool, in May last year, married her in less than four months, and deserted her in six. An effort was made by the defense to show that fraud was perpetrated upon Hayes to induce him to marry her, and thus assume the parental responsibility of the child, but it was excluded by the court, who held that no act can now be done to bastardize a child that Hayes acknowledged in law to be his when he married Mrs. Hayes, and by this act made it a member of his family.

Commissioner Bye said: "Some other mode of punishment must be found for a class generally without money with which to pay a fine. If we would permit it the jail would be filled with them most of the time."

The case of B. S. Ambler against William A. Hall and others was heard in court on motion of the defendants, who, with the exception of Paul Barckhoff have filed petition in error in circuit court to reverse the finding in common pleas. Last October the case, one in partition, was heard, and an order of sale issued. The court has now ordered stay of execution.

The $1500 damage case of John C. McGavern against Jacob Friestoffer, of East Liverpool, has been settled by the defendant paying him $50, out of which amount the costs are to be paid. McGavern's hand was caught in a door at the defendant's saloon.

I. B. Cameron got judgment against Lydia and Miriam French, Salem, for $201.46 and costs. It was delinquent tax.

Samuel Hayes is answering in court for not supporting his child. Hayes met his wife, Miss Sadie Boyd, at East Liverpool, in May last year, married her in less than four months, and deserted her in six. An effort was made by the defense to show that fraud was perpetrated upon Hayes to induce him to marry her, and thus assume the parental responsibility of the child, but it was excluded by the court, who held that no act can now be done to bastardize a child that Hayes acknowledged in law to be his when he married Mrs. Hayes, and by this act made it a member of his family.
